EAST BROOK DEATH MYSTERY CASE RE-OPENED

Re-Open Probe Into Man's Death At East Brook

Eight Persons Are Questioned By Officers In Wm. Cade's Death

ATTENDED PARTY AT HOME OF CADE

Recent Development Reveals Names Of Persons Who Were In Attendance

BULLETIN
(2 P. M.)

At two o'clock this afternoon District Attorney John S. Powers said that charges were being preferred against Harry Gross, 30 and Miss Billea VanGiesen 27, in the death of William Cade on the East Brook Road October 15, 1932.

Charges of being accessory after the fact were to be placed against seven other men and women who are alleged to have been at the home of the aged man on the night of the death. The charges are preferred in the office of Alderman James C. Brice. Formal arraignment will be made later.

Eight persons were taken into custody by State Police and County detectives Saturday for questioning as a result of the death, October 16, 1932, of William Cade, 64, of Lakewood road, East Brook. His death, it is reported, was due to hemorrhage believed to haye been superinduced by a blow. No formal charge has been made against any of the eight persons.

Cade was found dead on the floor of the house he occupied along the East Brook-Lakewood road by his son Russell. Dr. Paul Wilson was summoned. It is reported he diagnosed death due to a hemorrhage. Cade's head had a 2½ inch laceration. His nose also had been fractured.

An investigation by County Detective H. M. Lee, assistant Bernard Rocks and Coroner Orville Potter

Latest Sensation In American Colony In Paris Centers Around Capt. John Adams And Wife

The latest sensation in the American colony in Paris centers around the well-known Mrs. Edith Fiske Adams, daughter of Pliny Fiske, retired New York capitalist, and her husband, Captain John Adams, internationally known polo player and member of the famous Lafayette Escadrille during the war. Mrs. Adams (left) recently complained to Paris police that her husband had kept here locked in their apartment against her will. Captain Adams is shown at right in a recent photo.

Former Candidate For President Discusses Big Problems Of Day

With a crowd estimated a t 750 present, Norman, Thomas, twice a candidate for the presidency on the Socialist ticket, and the titular head of the party today, spoke in the Penn Theatre on Sunday afternoon on the subject "The Deepening Crisis."

Those who attended in the hope of hearing an hour of political incendiarism were undoubtedly disappointed. So also were those who were prepared to see a governmental Utopia painted in words. Those who wanted to hear a dispassionate, intelligent presentation of the aims of the Socialist party, and to listen to the remedies that party would prescribe for the present governmental and economic ills, were repaid for their time. Norman Thomas is a cultured gentleman, a polished speaker and coldly logical for the most part in presenting his case.

Doom Not Inevitable

"I do not believe that doom is inevitable in this country" said Thomas, "but we can't sit back and do nothing. We are living in a different world than they did years ago. In the old days the rule of life was the rule of scarcity. Today through the introduction of modern machinery we can produce all that we need and therein lies the trouble. We must control the machine or it will plunge us into ruin."

"There was a time when towns and groups of people were self sufficient. They made what they needed and exchanged and bartered among themselves. Today we have specialization, machines and if we would live we must co-operate."

Touching upon the World War, Mr. Thomas said, "we didn't get the war because the German kaiser was

British Admiralty Deny Reports Sunken Cruiser Hampshire Is Located

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 15.—Renewed reports, published in some American newspapers, that the wreck of the Cruiser Hampshire on which Lord Kitchener lost his life in 1915, had been found and gold recovered from it, brought a vigorous denial from the British admiralty today.

"This story", one of the highest admiralty officials told International News Service, "is absurd and has no justification".

Correspondents in the Orkney Islands, near the scene of the Hampshire disaster, reiterated that no salvaging operations had ever been attempted.

High Speed Drive By Roosevelt For Relief Measures

President Will Speed Up Legislation For Various Pending Projects

BIG PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM OUTLINED

Determined To Finish Program Before Adjournment Of Special Session

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A tremendous high speed legislative drive was asked of Congress today by President Rooseveit in his hope to secure authority for a federal reorganization if industry, a public works program, banking reforms and railroad relief within the next month.

Adjournment of the special session by June 15 was held out as a lure to House and Senate. The president, however, was determined to complete this legislative program for recapturing prosperity before dismissing Congress.

Al Smith Refuses To Run For Mayor

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—The "fusionists" interests who had hoped to draft former Governor Alfred E. Smith as their candidate for mayor of New York City, to oppose the regular Tammany candidate, had their hopes checked today by a "I do not choose to run" statement from the "happy warrior".

"I am not a candidate for the mayoralty," the former governor declared in a formal statement.

Increase Quota Of New Castle In Forest Army

War Department Order Says 310 More Will Be Given Places

TIME FOR CALL IS INDEFINITE

Lack Of Supplies At Army Camps Causing Delay In Calling Men

New Castle and Lawrence county will be asked to provide 310 additional young single men for President Roosevelt's Civilian Conservation corps at some date in the future, according to a communication received today by The News from the headquarters of the Third Corps area of the United States Army at Baltimore.

With the first quota of 184 men now being assembled, the new figure means that before many weeks pass the county will have provided at total of 494 for duty in the "forest army."

No Notice To Local Board

It was emphasized in the U. S. Army communication today that no call for the additional 310 will be issued until necessary supplies reach the various army camps from base depots. Here in Lawrence county the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board had not been informed of the new quota early today.

The government message said that the third call would place 5,652 more men in the forests when the calls are finally made.

Twenty six camps are already established and orders have been issued for seven additional to be set up in Virginia today, leaving 39 to be placed in operation between now and the end of May.

New Castle's group of 310, under the plan announced, would enter Fort Washington, Md., for training when the call to camps is given.

Other Pennsylvania cities, including Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, were apportioned large quotas in today's federal announcement.

Preparing 100 Today.

At the city's Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board, directing the recruiting work, will meet with the first 100 men to be selected in the county's initial draft of 184 young men.

It was said that while a committee of citizens have been interviewing the 184, only a group of 100, whom special notices were dispatch-

Grave Danger Of Ohio River Flood

Streams In Ohio, Indiana And Illinois Feed Ohio Immense Volume Of Water

NINE DEATHS ARE KNOWN IN DISTRICT

(International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 15.—Southward pouring flood waters which have done an estimated million dollars' damage in the Wabash, Ohio and White River Valleys sent the Ohio rising here at the rate of three-tenths of a foot an hour today.

Predicting a crest of 31 feet in the next 24 hours, or three feet above flood stage, the weather bureau warned of the growing danger.

From two to four inches of rainfall in Southern Indiana added to the burden of the roaring streams in the Ohio watershed. In Central Indiana the flood was receding after reaching a peak yesterday. Nine deaths have been reported throughout the inundated areas of Indiana. Thousands of acres of farm land were under water.

At Cincinnati the Ohio river left its banks over an area of several miles as the stream reached the 53 foot flood stage.

Traffic Halted

West Frankfort, Ill., May 15.—Overflowing streams north of here today had inundated parts of Franklin county, forcing scores of families to leave their homes for higher ground.

The flood waters covered many state highways to a depth that halted motor traffic.

New Wilmington Boy Dies From Injuries In Auto Accident

Hurled through the door of his parents car, which jarred opened as the machine careened from one side of the road to the other, at Birmfield, O., near Akron Saturday evening about nine o'clock, little Charles Minteer, aged 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Minteer of New Wilmington, sustained a fracture of the neck, dying enroute to an Akron hospital.

Charles, was seated between his parents in the front seat of the machine as they were passing through Brimfield, about ten miles east of Akron, when suddenly, the steering apparatus of the car seemed to give way and the car started swerving from one side to the other of the road.

During one of these swerves of the machine, now entirely out of control, the door of the machine flew open and the little boy was thrown out on the road. In the meantime, the car overturned.

Mr. and Mrs. Minteer were able to extricate themselves, escaping serious injuries of any kind. They called out to their little son, and he still had strength to answer, enabling them to find him some ten or fifteen feet to the rear of the overturned car.

Mr. Minteer hurried with him to a nearby farm house but could not locate a telephone. A car was available, however, and they set out with the child for an Akron hospital. He died enroute to the hospital.

The terrible accident turned to sorrow, a joyous trip to Akron, where the Minteers had planned to observe Mother's Day with Mrs. Minteer's parents. The accident came as a shock to the entire New Wilmington community, where the Minteer family is widely known and highly respected.

Charles is survived by his parents and grandparents. Funeral services will be held Tuesday, May 16, at 2:30 p. m. in the United Presbyterian church at New Wilmington.

ORDERS EVACUATION OF AMERICANS FROM TUNGSHOW DISTRICT

(International News Service)

PEIPING, May 15.—Nelton T. Johnson, American minister to China, today ordered immediate evacuation of American citizens, including 80 school children, from Tungshow, threatened by Japanese-Manchukuo troops sweeping towards Peiping and Tientsin.

He advised the Rev. Earl Ballou, of the American board of missions, to prepare to evacuate the boys and girls and the adult American staff of the Tungchow school into Peiping.

Johnson also instructed Consul General Frank Lockhart at Tientsin to prepare and send him a complete list of American citizens and property in the area of North China affected by the present hostilities.

This list Johnson will send to the Japanese legation, accompanied by a stern warning that the United States government expects the advancing Japanese army to exert full measures to safeguard American lives and interests.

Employment And Wage Payments Show Increase

Sharpest Gains Shown In New Castle, Sunbury, York, And Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Factory employment in Pennsylvania increased one per cent and wage payments increased five per cent from the middle of March to the middle of April, the Philadelphia Federal Reserve bank reported today.

The figures were compiled from reports received from 785 manufacturning concerns employing more than 200,000 workers.

Operating time during the same period showed a gain of seven per cent, the bank reported.

The sharpest gains were noted in the Sunbury, New Castle, York, Lancaster and Pittsburgh areas.

Friends of Mrs. Pearl Kirker Smith of Hamilton street who has been confined to the New Castle hospital for sometime undergoing treatment, will be pleased to learn that she has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home. She is getting along nicely.

Council Moves For City Control Of Cascade Park

Action Today Directs Contract Be Prepared For Consummation Of Plan

MAYOR SAYS CITY NOT OBLIGATED

No Additional Cost For Citizens, He Says; To Open Memorial Day

Council met in the city building today and passed unanimously Mayor Charles B. Mayne's motion that the proposition of the Pennsylvania Power Company, relative to the acquisition by the city of Cascade Park, be accepted. The motion also authorized the city solicitor to prepare a contract so the park can be available Memorial Day. The mayor's motion was seconded by Councilman Genkinger.

Prior to the vote on the mayor's motion, he read a statement stating that council had investigated the proposed acquisition and that if the city leased the park for $1.00 a year, it would not cost the taxpayers any money. The park would be in control of a board of commissioners.

Before the motion was voted upon Councilman Treser suggested that the mayor's statement be published. This was agreed to. The contract will not be presented to council before Friday. The mayor and colleagues said that if there is any objections the council would be willing to hear them Friday.

The statement the mayor read and which Treser suggested be published follows:

Mayor's Statement

"Much discussion has been had relative to the acquisition of Cascade park by the city. There appears to be a great amount of misunderstanding relative thereto.

Trolley Dispute Goes Into Court

Battle Between Rochester Borough And Traction Company Taken To Court

ROCHESTER, Pa., May 15.—The battle between this borough and the Beaver Valley Traction company will be brought into court here tomorrow at a hearing on the temporary injunction preventing the borough from interfering with trolley service.

The dispute began when the trolley company refused to pave the street between rails.

PROBE FINDING OF BODIES IN FIRE RUINS

Indiana, Pa., Has Mystery

Two Charred Torsos Are Found In Smoking Ruins Of Home

REMAINS THOSE OF AGED COUPLE

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., May 15.—Spurred by peculiar circumstances of the case, police today organized a probe into the discovery of two charred torsos—a man and a woman—in the smoking ruins of their Center township home.

The victims were identified as James H. Allison, 74, a widower, and his spinster sister, Miss Belle Allison, 76.

Heads, arms and legs of both bodies were missing.

Police were reticent in commenting on the case. They admitted, however, that preliminary examination did not indicate foul play.

The bodies were not found until more than six hours after the fire had burned itself out.

Only one suspicious angle was available on which to base the official investigation.

This was the story told by two miners who declared that when flames from the blazing cottage first attracted their attention, a small automobile sped past on the Indiana-Saltsburg road, apparently coming from the direction of the blaze.

The car was traveling at a terrific rate of speed, the miners said.

HITLER PREPARES SPEECH TO ALLAY WAR SUSPICIONS

Donald of Great Britain, and strongly supported by the United States.

But he will insist upon important modifications to strengthen Germany's claim to arms equality.

Not Belligerent

Germany, Hitler will tell the Reichstag, specially summoned to hear his address, prefers not to increase her armaments but desires that other nations scale down their existing military establishments.

This information, received from authentic sources, confirmed International News Service advices of Saturday that the Chancellor, while fully and aggressively defending Germany's position on arms in his speech Wednesday, eagerly awaited all over the world, will carefully avoid a display of belligerency.

The main features of his address have been drafted and it is understood Hitler is preparing it today in consultation with his cabinet ministers.

Britain Is Cool

London, May 15.—Great Britain will cling to a policy of cool-headedness during the coming "crazy week" in European politics in its effort to stem the drift toward war, the British cabinet decided today.

The recent speech of vice chancellor Von Papen of Germany, which drew accusations of "sabre rattling," was viewed by Whitehall officials as a political blunder. British opinions has hardened against Von Papen for his glorification of war.

Davis At Geneva

Paris, May 15.—Fresh from his triumphs in London, where he pushed acceptance of the American tariff truce proposal, Norman H. Davis, American Ambassador at large, moved today to save the disarmament conference from threatened disaster.

He conferred with Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour on ways and means of continuing the deadlocked disarmament conference despite the German demands for arms equality, which have precipitated Europe to the verge of a conflict, following Chancellor Hitler's momentous speech next Wednesday.

"We have made progress, but additional talks will be necessary," Davis declared, after his discussion with Paul-Boncour.

HIGH SPEED DRIVE FOR ROOSEVELT FOR RELIEF MEASURES

ing legislative record. It first enacted the emergency banking relief bill, the federal economy act and the 3.2 beer bill. Then, it authorized relief for states and a job-producing reforestation program. In another spurt, it enacted the huge farm relief-mortgage-inflation bill and the $500,000,000 unemployment relief fund for aiding states in caring for the jobless.

Three more great relief measures will be enacted this week. They are the Norris bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals, the new national "Blue Sky" bill to protect the investing public and the administration's budget-balancing tax bill, with a $168,000,000 levy on gasoline and electrical energy.

Banking Reform

The banking reform bill was pending in the Senate before a House committee. The railroad reorganization act was before committees at both ends of the Capitol. The industrial control act, with the public works program, laid on the president's desk. He probably will send it to Congress by tomorrow.

Three other bills on the president's program rested in committees. The home loans bank bill, providing mortgage relief for small home owners, was pending before committees. The bill, providing relief for insurance companies, rested in a House committee after passing the Senate. So did the Black 30-hour bill, which may be incorporated in the business control act.

Abandon Treaties

Two administration treaties probably will be abandoned if Congress quits by June 15. These were the arms embargo treaty, and the St. Lawrence waterway treaty. Both have been pending in the Senate for months and have developed stiff opposition.

Another subject of controversy will be the administration's plan to ask power for the president to revise tariff rates. The Republicans will fight such a proposition to a man.

FORMER CANDIDATE DISCUSSES BIG PROBLEMS OF DAY

any more wicked than any other ruler. They were all in the same boat in that respect. The World War was caused by an economic revolution and if we went to war to make the world safe for Democracy, we lost it. America went to war when it became necessary to back up the House of Morgan and we spent enough to give all our people good houses, to educate our children. We learned nothing out of the war, neither did any other nation. We of the victor nations prepared the soil for the evil growth of Hitlerism."

Socialization Needed

Mr. Thomas rapped the bankers for their manipulation of world finances, likened them to Captain Kidd with the odds in favor of the captain, and urged socialization of industry, transportation and banking as the means of saving the nation from the deepening crisis. "We need a thirty hour week with a minimum wage that will not be a maximum wage," he declared, said that the present condition in America was an economic revolution and that we were headed for dictatorship if conditions continued as they are.

He offered some few specific remedies for conditions. Had the Socialists been in power instead of Roosevelt he said they also would have closed the banks, but would have reopened them on a socialized basis, instead of appointing coordinators for railroads would have nationalized them, and would operate industry for use and not for profit.

At the close of his address he answered many questions in which he set out the difference between Socialism, Communism, and Anarchism, ridiculed the suggestion that the nation should abandon a monetary standard and take up the card and merit system, said that his party would pay the soldiers' bonus only to unemployed veterans as unemployment relief, and ended by urging those present to affiliate themselves with the Socialist party if they wanted real relief from the present situation. Taken as a whole his address was on a much higher plane than what has been offered in the past by Socialist speakers and the audience voiced its appreciation in applause.

Mr. Thomas was introduced by Dr. Van Essen of Pittsburgh, a former candidate for United States Senate. The chairman of the day was C. B. Bates.

by responsible and representative citizens from all walks of life as to the possibility of saving this beauty spot for the citizens, inquired into the matter.

"We find that Cascade Park abuts on property of the city already acquired so that if control of Cascade Park could pass to the city, we would have a continuous possible park development, starting with Gaston then through Cunningham field to Cascade Park and East Washington street.

"Council has proceeded slowly, inquiring into every angle of the situation as it is quite apparent that no addition to the tax problem is expedient or desirable at this time.

"Considering only the matter of a recreation park we find Cascade Park already equipped with a lake, picnic groves and shelters.

"There are also certain devices of an amusement character that might well be considered, such as the dance hall, the merry go round, the swimming pool and other harmless though recreation devices.

"We have carefully inquired into the possible use of the park for enjoyment and recreation purposes and in connection with that have also injured into possible revenues from such amusements as may contribute to the reasonable enjoyment of the people.

"We have considered the possibility of Sunday concerts and have come to the conclusion that the control and use of this property for enjoyment and recreation purposes, devoid of its commercial features, is capable of distinct benefit to the community.

"The opening up of the roads and paths to lake and picnic grounds offer exceptional facilities.

"The number of employes necessary to maintain and police the grounds is not large and we believe there is more than sufficient revenue in sight to pay such expense.

"Council has approached Mr. L. B. Round of Pennsylvania Power company as to what basis his company would be willing to relinquish control of the property to the city to be used primarily for enjoyment and recreation purposes.

"The company has responded to this effect:

"Anything which will enhance the possibility of community development is of advantage alike to all and the power company will gladly cooperate in the project.

"The company has offered to turn over to the City the Cascade Park property as it now is for a rental of $1.00 a year. The City to use the property for the enjoyment and recreation of all of the people. To use the revenue derived from any concession the City would permit for the purpose of maintaining the property.

"In a nutshell, use of the property can become available to all the citizens on payment of $1.00 per year and such expense as the city itself may direct for the benefit of the people (and council can see more than sufficient revenue to pay such reasonable expense) providing that the council will appoint a board of park commissioners who will administer the property for the people.

"After due and careful inquiry, after having heard both pros and cons we are of the opinion that the proposal is in the best interests of the citizens and proper legislation should be started to consummate the project so that it may be available for Memorial Day.

"Therefore, I move that the proposition of the Power Company, relative to Cascade Park, be accepted and that the city solicitor be authorized to draw up a contract to that effect, requested to help consummate the plan so the park may be available Memorial Day.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Concetta Polidoro.

Mrs. Concetta Polidoro, wife of Nicholas Polidoro, of 602 Lutton street, died Saturday, May 13, at 11:30 o'clock in the Jameson Memorial hospital, following an operation.

She was born November 11, 1884, in Italy and was in her 49th year. She had been a resident of this city for many years and was well known and highly respected. She was a member of St. Vitus church.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Anthony and Vincent, and two daughters, Ida and Clara.

She also leaves two brothers, Ralph of Italy and Angelo of Buffalo and one sister, Anna of Italy.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday, May 16, at 9:30 a. m. in St. Vitus church. Interment will be made in St. Vitus cemetery.

Lieutenant Roy A. Perry.

Lieutenant Roy A. Perry, son of G. A. Perry, South Croton avenue, died Sunday, May 14, at the United States army hospital in Los Angeles, Calif., following an illness of some nine months, during which time he underwent several very serious operations.

Lieutenant Perry was born in Depew, N. Y., and came to this city as a small boy with his parents. He remained a resident of this city until he had gone through high school. Shortly after that he enlisted in the United States army. He served with the third infantry. At the beginning of the World war he re-enlisted and was sent to an officers' training camp, where he attained the rank of lieutenant, in which capacity he served during the World war.

After the close of the war he left the United States army service and went with the United States Shipping board, with which organization he held the very responsible position for several years of finance disbursing officer on the Gulf Coast with headquarters at New Orleans, La.

In the past few years since leaving the service of the United States Shipping board, he had been engaged in a private business venture in California.

He was a member of the Masonic fraternity. He and his family have many friends here, who will regret to learn of his death.

He is survived by his father, G. A. Perry of this city; two brothers and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Calhoun of Wellsville, O., Grover H. Perry of South America, Frank H. Perry, a Spanish war veteran, who is in a United States soldiers home, and Maude Perry of Oklahoma.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Gladys Audrey Cameron.

Gladys Audrey, the two-year-old daughter of Riley and Grace Burnsides Cameron, Washington township, Volant R. D. 1, died Sunday at 9:15 p. m. in her home.

The little one was born in New Castle June 2, 1931, and is survived by her parents; two brothers, Wilbur and Kenneth; a sister, Evelyn, at home, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Burnsides, this city, and Mrs. C. B. Cameron, Washington township.

The funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. E. S. T. from the residence, Volant R. D. 1, with Rev. C. W. Johnstone of the Central Christian church officiating.

Mrs. Anna Rollinson Marshall

Mrs. Anna Rollinson Marshall, aged 63, wife of Robert Marshall, Leesburg, died Sunday at 5:30 p. m. in her home after an illness of eighteen months from complications.

She was born in New Virginia, Mercer county, July 19, 1869, the daughter of James and Jane Rollinson and had lived in Leesburg practically all her life. She was a member of the Leesburg Presbyterian church.

She is survived by her husband; a son, James E. of Leesburg; and two brothers: Havilah Rollinson of New Virginia and Thomas Rollinson of Sharon.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. E. S. T. from the Leesburg Presbyterian church with Rev. W. A. Lloyd officiating, assisted by Rev. Laughner, Grove City.

Max Geiger.

Max Geiger, one of the city's best known and most highly respected residents, died Sunday, May 14, at 4 p. m. at his home 642 South Ray street, following an illness of seven years due to a complication of diseases.

Mr. Geiger was born in Germany June 2, 1846, and would have been eighty-seven years of age on his next birthday, the second day of June. He came to this country when twenty-one years of age and located in this city and has resided here ever since.

During the many years that Mr. Geiger was a resident of this city, he was known as one of the community's best citizens and was loved and respected by all.

He was a carpenter by trade and was for many years, the janitor of the city building. He retired from active work quite a number of years ago. He was a faithful member of the Emmanuel German Evangelical church.

His wife, Mrs. Margaret Geiger, preceded him in death thirty-eight years ago. He leaves one daughter, Margaret Geiger at home and one son, Frank Geiger of this city, also a brother, Martin Geiger of Newark, N. J., and two brothers and two sisters in Germany.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, May 16, at 3 p. m., at the family residence, 642 South Ray street, with his pastor, Rev. J. George Knippel in charge. Interment will be made in Greenwood Memorial Park.

Mrs. Conzett's Funeral.

Private funeral services of Mrs. Sarah Amanda Conzett were held at the family residence, 212 East Grant street, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. R. E. Schulz, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Warren, O., in charge. The pallbearers were relatives. Interment was made in Oak Wood Cemetery, Warren, Ohio.

Mrs. Lina Ditunac

Mrs. Lina Ditunac, aged 73, wife of Mike Ditunac, died Sunday at 11 a. m. in the New Castle hospital after an illness of complications.

Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the Burke Funeral home and interment was made in the County Home plot.

Illinois Milk Strike Ended

Farmers Call Off Milk Strike And Resume Full Deliveries

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., May 15—Threat of a milk shortage in urban centers of Northern Illinois was dissipated today when farmers of McHenry and Kane counties resumed full deliveries after calling off their milk strike indefinitely.

Meeting at Elgin last night, leaders of the strike voted to suspend the holiday which began Saturday and await legislative relief under the plan which calls for placing the milk industry in supervision of the Illinois commerce commission.

Approval by the department of agriculture of the increase from $1.45 to $1.75 per hundred weight for the wholesale milk was a major factor in the final decision to suspend the strike.

SQUIRREL RETURNS TO COURT HOUSE

Court house officials were beginning to think that the squirrels which have made their homes in the trees on the court house lawn had either been killed or had deserted the grounds, but this morning one of the squirrels re-appeared. It is not known where the squirrel spent the winter, but it was not in the boxes in which they made their home last summer. The squirrel that returned this morning may be one which has been seen near the Aiken school building.

EIGHT WOMEN IN ONE FAMILY BENEFITED

Another Remarkable Record for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MRS. ALBERT MUNNINGHOFF
122 E. Ninth St., Newport, Kentucky

"Both my grandmother and my mother always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother has six daughters and we all use it too. If I ever have a daughter I shall certainly give it to her. I never felt better in my life."—MRS. ALBERT MUNNINGHOFF.

Perhaps your mother or your grandmother depended upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, too. Thousands of women do. They give it to their daughters as they come to womanhood—they take it before and after childbirth—they rely upon it at middle age. It must be good when 98 out of 100 women say, "It helps me."

"MY MOTHER TOOK THIS MEDICINE TOO"

"My mother took your medicine the greater part of her life, especially at the Change. She is now 63 and in good health. I took it for weakness when I was single. I also took it before childbirth and I have two lovely girls. I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound especially during pregnancy. It makes childbirth very easy."—MRS. MARIE LUBECK, 1024 Boston Road, Bronx, New York.

developed that there had been a party at the Cade house. Persons attending were not known at that time.

Friday, it is said, the State Police and county detectives who had been working secretly on the Cade case received a "break". They learned the identities of some eight persons who had attended the party and late Saturday took all of them into custody for questioning.

It was verified that there had been a party and that intoxicating beverages had been consumed. None of them will admit knowing of any blow having been delivered to Cade.

The party, it is said started on the night of October 15. They claim to have left the house about 2:30 a. m. Cade, according to stories told State Police and County Detective Lee and Rocks, was in bed and all right, when the party broke up. The police claim the stories conflict.

Upon receiving news that Cade had been found dead the persons who had been at the party did not make known to authorities that they had been at the Cade house the previous night. Apparently it was decided to maintain secrecy and the information came to light only Friday, it is said.

Cade lived alone in the house.

Straight-Line Type Of Woman Is Predominant

Temporary Invasion Of Curvacious Floradora Type Is Without Effect

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 15.—"Today's woman, a beautiful, free, straight-lines type developed since the great war, has nothing to fear from the temporary invasion of the curvacious, floradora type of women who has arrived in the wake of leg-o-mutton sleeves, pinch waists and hen-nest hats."

So says McClelland Barclay, noted magazine illustrator and authority on feminine beauty, now at the Paramount studios.

"The dollar-sign figure favored by our manly forebears of the past generation is no more than a passing fad," said Barclay. "The beautiful woman will continue to be extremely slender—almost harsh in lines—with, perhaps, wider shoulders but narrower hips.

"This type is more in harmony with our modernistic settings."

FAITH

Time and again our attention is called to the advertisements in the Pittsburgh papers in regards to the reductions certain Funeral Directors there are giving their patrons.

We would be only to glad to furnish funerals with much better merchandise and in all probabilities much better service at these prices and even less but our profession does not allow us to advertise in this manner in our papers.

Funeral bills today are much lower than they were a few years ago, something that cannot be said about some of the other necessities used by the present day families.

HAVE YOU THE UTTERMOST FAITH IN YOUR FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY OF LOCAL INTEREST

Of extreme interest to many in New Castle and vicinity is the golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Sargeant of Colona, Pa., and formerly of this city, which fell on Friday, May 12 and was observed on Saturday May 13, at the home of Mrs. Hazel Romigh, a daughter of the couple, of Rochester, Pa.

A family dinner at 6 o'clock was the main feature and places were arranged for forty.

At this unusual and most happy occasion was represented four generations which included Mrs. Sargeant, her daughter Mrs. William Anderson of Monroe street, New Castle, and her eldest daughter Mrs. R. G. McCartney and little son Raymond "Sonny" McCartney all of the same address. Others present from New Castle were Mr. and Mrs. Clair Buchannon and family, Norene, Jay and Betty Jane, the latter who favored those assembled with a group of vocal selections.

Guests were in attendance from Rochester, Aliquippa, Monaca and New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Sargeant are the parents of eight children, twenty grandchildren and one great grandchild.

A large number of beautiful gifts were received by the honored ones as well as messages from those unable to participate.

The program arranged especially for this occasion consists of a film made by the University Film Foundation illustrating "The Etchers Art". It commences with a brief historical resume of the art and shows the Armor's work shop of the middle ages.

This meeting is open to all club women and the public in general who are interested. This is not a charge affair.

JUNIOR BUSINESS WOMEN HAVE DANCE

The Cathedral ballroom was nicely filled Friday evening, May 12, with the local younger set for a dance sponsored by the Junior Business and Professional Women's Club.

Guests were present from the Erie and Butler chapters of the club and also from nearby towns and Westminster College.

The success of the dance can be attributed to the committee in charge: Virginia Hickok, general chairman; Sylvia Martin, Grace Sankey, Lucille Emery, Mae Cromie and Verna Hanlon.

Reda-Morgan Wedding

A pretty wedding took place Thursday morning in St. Vitus church when Louise Reda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine Reda of South Mill street became the bride of Dom Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan, 1323 Laurel Place in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

The vows were exchanged before an altar beautifully decorated and the Rev. Fr. N. DeMita officiated.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin gown made in period style and her veil of French illusion was bordered with a wide bend of Dutchess lace and cap caught with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of roses and valley lillies. Miss Florence Bordonaro as maid of honor wore a frock of blue and silver and her flowers were of talisman roses.

Tony Pia served as best man. Those acting as bridesmaids included Viola Reda, Josephine Lamorella, Louise Audia and Antonietta Morgan. Ushers were Jesse Lastoria, Mike Iffer, Louis Malls and John Morgan.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the grooms parents and later in the day the bride and groom left for a wedding trip. After May 22 they will be at home to friends at 1323 Laurel Place.

Spring Tea Party

The Y. M. P. Class of the Third United Presbyterian church held a spring tea party in the church dining room Friday evening, with small tables decorated in yellow and orchid forming a pretty background, with the candles on each table forming the only light.

The stage was decorated in ferns and palms and the artists' table was set in rose and lighted with rose candles.

The program included numbers by the Fireside String Ensemble: piano solo, Don Potter: selections by the little Lutz sextet: harp solo, David Hopkins: reading Katherine Johnson: xylophone number by Jane Foringer with Jean Copeland at the piano: vocal number, Mary Clark accompanied by Mrs. Chapman: trumpet solo, Virginia Kildoo: baritone number, Mr. Ward accompanied by Mr. Frye: piano number, Dorothy Spangler: violin, Michael Caruso, with E. E. Branstetter at the piano.

While the members served tea the Fireside string ensemble pleased with their music.

Golden Wedding Event Observed

Saturday, May 13, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pennington of 616 Sennett street, surrounded by the members of their family, observed in an informal manner their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

The home was decorated with bouquets of cut flowers and throughout the day many friends and associates of Mr. and Mrs. Pennington called to congratulate them on their long and happy wedded life.

At 6 o'clock in the evening the members of the Women's Union Label League No. 456 assembled at the Pennington home with baskets of fodstuff to help them celebrate the occasion with a fine tureen dinner. Both Mr. and Mrs. Pennington are charter members of the league and are known for their support and loyalty to all trade union movements of the city.

The evening was spent in a very enjoyable manner, and during the evening A. G. Skundor, in behalf of the Women's Union Label league, presented the honor couple with a token in appreciation of their friendship and activity in behalf of the organization. Mr. Pennington responded on behalf of himself and wife in a fitting manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Pennington were married at Sandbach, Cheshire county, England, the maiden name of Mrs. Pennington being Mary M. Hilditch. They came to this country in 1893 and resided in East Liverpool, O., for a time before coming here. Mr. Pennington is a potter by trade. They are both 68 years of age and enjoying the best of health.

Their union was blessed with the following children: Mrs. Nellie Carter of East Liverpool, Harry Pennington of Bedford, O., Mrs. Lillie Hovencamp of Portsmouth, O., Mrs. Elsie Eardley, Mrs. Margaret Joyce, both of New Castle, Mrs. Phyllis Bratt of Akron, O., and a son who is deceased. They have 15 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren living.

The following members of their family were present: Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eardley, Mrs. Margaret Joyce and Norma and Noreen Joyce of this city, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Pennington, Fred Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen and children Helen, John, Gene and Donald Allen of Bedford, O., Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bratt and children Lester, Richard and William Bratt of Akron, O., Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ferrell and Mary Wallace of East Liverpool, O.

HEALTH FROM THE SOIL

MAN lived for uncounted centuries close to the soil, he toiled on it, and apparently drew strength from it. People seem healthier when they are at work on the surface of the earth. When they are separated from earth, and labor in structures of wood, stone, and other substances, something seem slacking in physical stimulus.

Every hour of work that you put in on your home grounds will not merely produce beauty and usefulness, but it should have physically beneficial results. The fresh open air and the invigorating rays of the sun have a stimulating power.

Farmers usually live long lives. In spite of their prolonged hours of toil, greatly exceeding those of indoor workers, and though many of them live in unsanitary homes, yet their contact with the soil and their outdoor life give them exceptional vigor. Anyone who has room enough around his home for a garden can gain some of this benefit by laboring over that space.

JUSTICE TO MEXICANS

Two years ago deputy sheriffs in Ardmore, Okla., too quick on the trigger, shot two innocent Mexican students at sight, on mere suspicion. The incident attracted a good deal of attention at the time. It became the subject of prolonged diplomatic exchanges. Our government expressed its sincere regrets. Now it has sent the Mexican government $30,000 as indemnity, to pay the boys' parents.

This honorable reparation attracts less attention in our country than it does in Mexico. It does us far more good than the expenditure of $30,000,000 ever did in military invasion of Mexico for real or fancied grievances.

BUSINESS MEN'S FARMS

The Spokane Federal Land Bank reports that city men in the northwest are buying farms and establishing tenants on them—sometimes relatives—who raise food crops on shares. The owners are thus assured part of their food supply. Sometimes they receive added income, though that does not appear to be the immediate purpose of the movement.

The report states further that the volume of farm land sales for the first four months of 1933 surpassed all the bank's like periods, excepting that of 1928.

This is going back to the soil by proxy. If it means increasing tenantry and the loss of farm homes by former owners, it may not be a wholly good thing. Yet the business and professional men who are buying these farms obviously regard them as good investments, better perhaps than some of the investments they made prior to 1929. They may be preparing a line of safe retreat trom the onslaughts of future economic depressions.

CURBING PROMOTERS

Congress has just done something it should have done years ago—passed a blue sky law for the protection of domestic and foreign securities. Had such an act been on the statute books a decade ago a large part of the huge sum invested by the American people in foreign bonds might still be working at home.

The federal securities law is drastic and probably will interfere with the free flow of capital as well as with legitimate enterprise, but the situation demands something drastic. Industry, finance and even the investing public will occasionally resent this interference but none can suffer through it the tortures of those who invested their life savings in now worthless foreign securities.

There are two important provisions in the bill. Corporations offering their securities for interstate sale must register with the Federal Trade Commission and publish the truth about themselves and their securities. Their directors will be held responsible for any misrepresentations, so directors may be expected to do more directing in the future.

For the protection of investors in foreign securities the Federal Trade Commission will not only investigate all offerings but will, through a special corporation, look after the interests of holders of defaulted paper.

Heretofore it has been "caveat emptor," henceforth it is to "let the seller beware."

INVERTED MOUNTAINS

Captain C. B. Mayo, commanding the U. S. naval oil tanker Ramapo, recently reported finding a new deep in the bed of the Pacific which is only 1,2000 feet less than the greatest known depth. It is a trench in the ocean's floor near the coast of Japan, directly across the Pacific from San Diego, California. By repeated use of the sonic depth finder a depth of 33,006 feet was measured.

The floor of the ocean generally resembles a rolling plain. It averages less than 14,000 feet below sea level. The trenches which extend to such great depths are like inverted mountain ranges. They drop off sharply from the ocean bottom. A number of them have been located, the greatest being northeast of Mindanno Island in the Philippines, with a depth of 34,210 feet. The deepest charted trench in the Atlantic is off Puerto Rico and has been measured at 27,972 feet.

These trenches compare very well with the 29,000 feet of Mount Everest, highest mountain in the world. From Everest's crest to the lowest point measured in the ocean's floor there is a span of 12 miles.

Man has soared about the topmost peak of the earth's crust. He has gone only a little distance beneath the sea. The seismic disturbances which have created mountains and ocean valleys have given him interesting subjects for scientific study and observation, but they have not interfered greatly with his more or less humble routine.

FOUR PARAGRAPHS

She is mortally ill, and she knows she is doomed. But this woman laughs and is gay. She lavishes herself on life, she drinks deeply of the beauty of this earth, of the strange, never-ending, earthy excitement of people. . . . You would not know, talking to her, being with her, that she has heard the sentence passed upon her and has accepted it, fully, in her heart. . . . She intends to enjoy every moment until the end, and if you told her you considered her brave, she would not know what you are talking about. "Stop all this talk about being brave!" she'd say and laugh greatly, "what else can a person be in this world if he's to get the most of it? Get along with you!"

If a man makes a fool of himself, don't be telling him so to his face. . . . He knows it, doesn't he? He's told himself a hundred times and maybe a thousand. Let that be enough.

Our cat went out in the garden and caught a small bird. He hid behind the myrtle and leaped into the air and snatched that small brown twittering thing to earth. . . .But a child ran out, in pity and anger, and took the half-living spoils away from the cat, and scolded him sharply.

Our cat was fearfully angry. He walked stiff-legged and growled to himself and followed the bird inside and stalked his rage around the kitchen. . . . And then, when he saw his fury was futile, he went outside and made a victory dance. Climbed a tree, sharpened his claws, played around on the lawn like a joyous kitten. . . . I don't know why. Who understands a cat?

People—they were always older people who were supposed to be wise—used to tell me there was no use crying over spilt milk. But the proverb was small comfort. Rather, it always seemed to me that the futility of crying merely increased the misery of the thing. . . . And lately I read in a book, "It is no comfort for the ordinary person, whatever it may be for the philosopher, to add to the pain a knowledge of the pain's futility."

WOMEN ARE HELPMATES

The majority of men who are successful have been assisted either directly or indirectly by a woman—a mother or a wife.

Usually the wife is entitled to credit, because she is the companion at a time when the rough road to success is being travelled.

It is undoubtedly true that many men in prominent places would never have reached their goal if it had not been for the help and understanding sympathy given by wives.

But there must be something within the man's makeup, or he would not respond to help given to gain and maintain a higher position.

Many persons don't and won't give credit to one who has forged ahead. These persons seldom speak of him without injecting the thought that his wife is responsible for his success, and not infrequently they say that she lays out or actually performs some of his work for him.

It is true that often opinions expressed by a wife and deductions made by her are used by the husband to good advantage—and why not?

Two intelligent, thinking persons should be of great assistance to each other. Both should develop to a greater degree of efficiency, and be able to do better and more worthwhile work.

It was in the early days when the first large steam turbine was installed in Chicago—and he had insisted on a much larger kilowatt capacity than the others wanted. When the steam was turned on, the engineer, who was a bit dubious, suggested that it might blow up and Mr. Insull perhaps had better go to his office. Mr. Insull replied: "If it blows up, the whole company will blow up, and I'll blow up, too, so I might as well stay here, and between us we'll finish the job."

It is interesting to note that that was in 1903, and the disputed turbine had a 5,000 kilowatt capacity. Today turbines with a capacity of 150,000 kilowatts are being used.

Open Door In China Is Upheld As Necessary To All Nations

Conflicting Reports Arouse Interest Because Of Dispute Over Control Of Great Oriental Railroad Line

Recent statements from official sources on the maintenance of the "open door" in China have created American interest because that policy, formulated by Secretary of State Hay, is held to have been a triumph of American diplomacy Statement by an official that recognition of Manchukuo would be the price of maintaining the open door has been followed by a Tokio announcement to the contrary. It is held that the present dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway is involved in commercial plans in the Orient.

"It is satisfactory to know" says the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL "that the Japanese government has officially notified the United States government that the open door of trade and commerce in Manchuria will be maintained, notwithstanding a contrary announcement the other day by a Manchukuan spokesman." The Journal concludes: "The American Government and people have reason to welcome the present announcement from Tokio that the new State of Manchukuo does not propose to shut John Hay's open door in our faces. The open door represents a fine triump for American diplomacy. The shut door would have been a serious blow at that diplomacy, as well as at the commercial rights it has sought to protect.

A statement by former President Theodore Roosevelt is quoted by the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, that former leader having declared that this policy, 'as a matter of fact, completely disappears as soon as a powerful nation determines to disregard it, and is willing to run the risk of war, rather than forego its intention." The Tribune holds that the recent alleged threat was "an economic one, which might in a measure offset any embargo other nations placed upon the shipment of war materials to Tokio. In dollars and cents," continues The Tribune, "the United States is but mildly interested inasmuch as its total investment in what was Manchuria is no more than twelve million dollars. There is a principle involved. The open door policy, giving all nations equal right to trade in the Orient, was first formulated by Secretary Hay in 1899. It has been frequently confirmed. To it, Japan made a pledge in the Root-Takahira agreement in 1908 and in the Lansing agreement of 1917. It is incorporated in the Nine-Power Treaty of 1922 signed by all the principal Powers, including Japan.'

"If Japan intends to maintain the policy of the open door" thinks the BALTIMORE SUN, "Russias interest in the Chinese Eastern will have to be scrupulously protected. On the other hand, if Japan does not protect the Russion interest in the railway, it will be an indication of her disinclination to adhere to the open door policy in general. There have been hints that the open door would be closed. The action of Japan with respect to the Chinese Eastern will go rather a long way toward showing what the Japanese policy will really be. All nations which are interested in the open door may be said, therefore, to have an indirect stake in the negotiations to settle the line's status."

"Japan will be held responsible" declares the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS "by the outside governments, for any action allegedly taken by Manchukuo which works to the injury of foreign interests." As to occasional rumors that the open door might be closed. The Evening News offers the comment: 'Official cognizance of the threat has been taken by the British government. Recently a member of the House of Commons asked the cabinet what steps, if any, were to be taken to protect British trade interests in Manchuria, in view of the statement credited to Tokuzo Komai, Japanese member of the Manchukua Privy Council, that Manchukuo's trade door would be closed to nations not having diplomatic relations with the Chang-chun regime. Acting Prime Minister Baldwin replied that he did not believe that the threat had really been made, but in any event Great Britain was prepared to defend the principal of the open door in Manchuria."

"During the past few months" records the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS "the Manchukuan administration has erected barriers which have almost closed the so-called open door to trade. Several British commercial houses—long established in the Far East—are withdrawing their branches from the Manchurian provinces and other foreign concerns are expected to follow their example. The Tokyo government lately agreed to send a businessmen's delegation to London, to discuss trade problems with British spokesmen. However, it hardly could achieve worthwhile results should the puppet Manchukuan administration at Changchun continue a policy which favors Japan to the practical exclusion of all other nations."

Discussing the railroad dispute, the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT advises that "it may be doubted that either Japan or Russia is willing to engage in armed conflict," with the conclusion that "Japan has not hesitated to defy the world in her Manchurian venture, but it is sufficently evident that she has done so in the belief that the world would not interfere." The ROANOKE TIMES declares that "Japan knows full well that in challenging Russia to conflict it would not be engaging the Russia that was defeated so disastrously in 1904-5." The NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE feels that "Japan may be unwilling to force the issue at this time, but eventually will, in all likelihood, seek possession of the coveted railway by purchase or other method, to strengthen her grip upon Manchuria.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AN OLD BEGGAR

On one of his visits to Egypt, Napoleon I, Emperor of France, brought back a "souvenir" in the form of an elephant, named "Siam."

"Siam" was so wild and unruly, and caused so much trouble in Paris, that Napoleon presented "Siam" to his father-in-law, Emperor Franz of Austria. Arriving in Vienna, the elephant continued his unruliness and was turned over to a "tiergarten" in Budapest, Hungary.

In time "Siam" learned to behave himself, perhaps reasoning that he received more peanuts and other tidbits from zoo visitors when he was on his good behavior.

He is still alive, at least 150 years old, mutely begging his living from passersby.

WEALTH

Wealth is friendship tried and true.
Wealth is joyous, happy hours,
Strength the daily tasks to do.
Wealth is trees and birds and flowers.
Wealth is tender sentiment.
Peace of mind and heart's content.
All man's senses and his powers.

Wealth is beauty to the eye.
Stars at night and silver beams
Of the soft moon in the sky;
Music by rippling streams.
Wealth is faith and courage bold
And the loyalty to hold
Fast to all man's nobler dreams.

Wealth is all the countless things
Memory prizes down the years;
That sweet comfort friendship brings
When our eyes are wet with tears.
Gold is but a minor part.
Wealth is of the mind and heart,
Grazing all our hopes and fears.

Woman Is Shot To Death; Man Commits Suicide

Vernon Amey, 30, Of East Bangor, Pa., Kills Sweetheart And Ends Own Life

KILLING ENDS LONG QUARREL

(International News Service)

EASTON, Pa., May 15.—Infuriated because she refused to be reconciled after breaking off their engagement, Vernon Amey, 30, of East Bangor, late Saturday night shot and killed Miss Mary L. Weaver, 26, of Bangor, and then ended his own life, according to a police reconstruction of the tragedy today.

The bodies were found early Sunday morning by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gunning when they returned to their home where Miss Weaver was employed as a domestic. She had been shot three times, two of the bullets piercing her heart, and the man was shot twice. After an investigation Dr. Theodore Reichbaum, county coroner, issued verdicts of death by murder and suicide.

According to friends, Miss Weaver recently broke her engagement to Amey after a friendship of three years. During recent weeks he called her incessantly, attempting to effect a reconciliation, police learned.

Bands Will Repeat Concert At Union

Bessemer Throng Enjoys School Performance; Helps Music Cause

An impressive band concert which thrilled a throng of Bessemer residents last Friday night will be repeated by the Bessemer and Union high school bands before an audience at the Union Township high school on Wednesday evening, May 17 at 8:15 o'clock, Daylight Savings time.

With but one rehearsal together, the two school bands made a joint public appearance that brought a continuous roar of applause throughout the program. The numbers were classical ones, chosen particularly for the concert.

Robert Duff, the Union director, and Joseph Martin, supervisor of music at Bessemer, lead the bands as they play.

The concerts are gratis, being given merely to promote the cause of good music.

To Erect Signs On Franklin Highway

BUTLER, Pa., May 15.—Huge illuminated signs to point out the way to Chicago over the Benjamin Franklin highway through Butler, will be erected where Route 22 and Route 422 merge at Ebensburg, as the result of a decision reached yesterday at a conference in the Hotel Nixon attended by interested representatives of Indiana, New Castle and Butler.

Those attending the conference were George N. Burckhalter, vice president of the Benjamin Franklin Highway association, H. E. Raymond, H. E. Nixon and Walter Fish, all of Indiana; Thomas M. Boyle, New Castle and Mr. Burckhalter.

Last Of Car Lines Are Being Removed

Tracks of the New Castle-Youngstown Electric railway, which have been torn up as far as the state line, are now being removed through Lowellville, and Struthers, O. Soon the line will be but a memory.

Already a bus service is taking care of the districts formerly served by the electric line.

The New Castle-Youngstown line enjoyed its greatest business when New Castle was dry in the pre-prohibition days and Lowellville was wet.

It takes 5,000 pounds of tuberoses to make 2½ pounds of perfume essence.

Rainbow Girls Attend Church

Annual Service Of Mothers And Daughters Is Held In First United Presbyterian

The members of the New Castle Assembly 1, Rainbow for Girls, had their annual mother-daughter church service Sunday evening in the First United Presbyterian church and the girls, in their white dresses, formed a pretty picture as they marched down the aisle to the processional, played by Walter Reneker, organist.

Mrs. Muryl J. Boyd had an appropriate vocal number and Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the church, preached a most beautiful sermon on the "Rainbow" taking it from the religions, the artistic and the scientific significance.

In speaking to the girls he said their position and attitude in life was most important as to whether they saw the rainbow or mud. He talked of the beauty of the rainbow and its colors and the significance they held as to the beauty of life if the girl takes the right stand and attitude.

He further stated that another lesson the rainbow teaches is for each one to serve as a means of revealing God's created beauty, as it is so much more real and beautiful than that created by man.

Wife Of Chicago Artist Suicides

Mrs. Frieda Anisfeld, Jumps To Her Death From Sixteenth Floor Of Hotel

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 15.—Mrs. Frieda Anisfeld, wife of Boris Anisfeld, celebrated painter, fell to her death today from the sixteenth story of the Devonshire Hotel here. She was 48 years old.

Police were unable to determine whether she leaped or fell. The body landed on the hood of an automobile.

Detectives found Anisfeld pounding on the door of their studio apartment. Before stepping out to a balcony the artist's wife had locked her husband and their daughter, Marochka, 22, in their respective rooms.

Depression Also Hits Chickens

Average Egg Production In Pennsylvania Shows Decrease

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 15—Even the chickens seem to be afflicted with unemployment in Pennsylvania.

The Department of Agriculture reports that on May first of this year eggs laid in Pennsylvania averaged only 58.1 per 100 hens and pullets. Eggs laid in the state had averaged 59.3 per 100 hens and pullets on May 1, 1932, and 60 per 100 hens and pullets on May 1, 1931. The Pennsylvania average of 58.1 eggs per 100 hens and pullets on May 1, 1933 was higher than the national average of only 54.8.

Production of milk per cow also appears to have fallen off in the Keystone State. On May 1, 1933, milk producer per cow in the herds surveyed in Pennsylvania averaged only 16.7 pounds. This average had been 17.1 pounds on May 1, 1932, and 18.7 pounds on May 1, 1931. The Pennsylvania average of 16.7 pounds on May 1, 1933 compared with a national average of only 14.3 pounds.

Pennsylvanians Entitled To More Jobs Is Declared

State Residents Fill Only 75 Per Cent Of Civil Service Jobs Due Them

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 15—Pennsylvania residents fill only 75 per cent of the classified civil service jobs in the movement to which the state is entitled, Representative Hastings, Democrat of Oklahoma told the House this week.

According to figures presented by Mr. Hastings, Pennsylvania residents are entitled to 2619 government jobs under the statute prescribing that such positions be apportioned on a basis of population Today, however, Pennsylvania residents hold only 1976 jobs. This leaves the state quota only 75 per cent filled, a total of 643 jobs being due residents of the Keystone state but filled by residents of other states.

Sentiment is growing in Congress that residents from states holding more than their fair share of such positions should be dismissed and these jobs handed out to such states as Pennsylvania who are below quota. Ohio is 49 per cent under quota whereas West Virginia is only one per cent below.

COKE PLANTS SHOW BIG GAIN FOR WEEK

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 15.—Renewed activities in the Connellsville coke region this week put between 4,000 and 5,000 miners to work, and sent operations to near the half-way mark. The H. C. Frick Coke Company alone is giving three-day-a-week employment to 2,500 to 3,000 men, and the independent plants added materially to the man-power.

Operations this week reached the highest mark in the last two years. Further activity is anticipated, according to coal company officials.

Seven Hundred Birds Hatched At Game Farm

Are First Ringnecks To Be Hatched By New Incubator System At Farm

Although it has been just three days since they stepped from the shells, 700 ringneck pheasant peeps are scuttling around fresh as cucumbers. It seems to matter not one whit to them that they are orphan peeps, hatched from the Jordan State Game Farm's new electric incubator.

These peeps, hatched on Friday, have the honor of being the first products of the newly installed incubator. V. T. Warfel superintendent of the farm, is justly proud of the little ones, for they are not only perfect examples of pheasanthood, but show the incubator to be successful in every detail. Previous to the installation of the electric system the pleasant eggs were put in the care of ordinary barnyard hens. The hens are now among the unemployed, machinery having taken their place.

Mr. Warfel stated this morning that another batch of eggs is in the hatching compartment at the present time and will be hatched in a day or two. Additional ringneck peeps will be hatched every four or five days from now on until the brooder houses are filled.

The 700 birds scampering around at the farm today are the products of 1000 eggs placed in the incubator 24 days ago.

Nearly 200 Attend Service Of Eagles

Mother's Day Program Draws Crowd To Home; Hear Akron Speaker

After reviewing the inspiring part the Fraternal Order of Eagles played in the establishment of a nation-wide Mothers' Day, Attorney Joseph Thomas, Akron, prominent in Eagledom's ranks, closed his Mother's Day message before a crowd of 200 persons in the New Castle aerie home, South Jefferson street, when he asked: "Is it to be wondered, therefore, that there is an imperishable bond between the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the mothers of our citizens?"

In the early part of his remarks Attorney Thomas recalled that it was in 1904 when Frank E. Hering was grand worthy president, that a crusade commenced for the establishment of this national memorial day.

"Every Eagle gave his staunch support", the speaker told the assemblage. "The idea spread rapidly. Aeries in every corner of the land began to hold exercises and in 1912 the national governing body of the F. O.E. declared that a Mother's Day was to be observed annually by all aeries. A year later, by act of Congress, the Mothers' Day holiday became a reality."

The Akron speaker was introduced by Chairman Walter Braham, presented by Worthy President George F. Anthony.

Music numbers by the Eagles quartet and reading numbers by Mrs. Frances Cope, chosen especially for the Mother's Day program, featured the afternoon service. Chaplain J. P. Brogan pronounced the opening prayer and at the close the audience joined in the singing of America.

Lodge members and their friends comprised the audience.

Assign Dennis To Camp Perkins

Local Reserve Officer Is Located At Fort Hoyle, Md., For The Present

Lieut. Don Dennis, of this city, member of the Officers Reserve Corps, who was recently called for duty in connection with the government's reforestration program, has been assigned to duty with the 349th Civilian Conservation Corps, at Camp Perkins, Fort Hoyle, Md.

Lieut. Dennis states that under the present plan, companies of men comprising 200 are sent out from the conditioning camp, after completing their training there, and that 12 men are recruited from the locality in which the reforestration project is being worked.

Each company has two regular army officers and one reserve officer assigned to it.

Colorado Drys Planning Fight

Drys Heartened By Declaration That 3.2 Beer Is Unconstitutional

SAYS BEVERAGE IS INTOXICATING

(International News Service)

DENVER, May 15.—Elated over a district court decision in Greeley that declared federal and state laws legalizing beer of 3.2 per cent alcohol content by weight unconstitutional, dry leaders of Colorado today were prepared to fight "to the last ditch" to maintain this victory in the higher courts.

W. L. Wade, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in Colorado, said the organization will provide the best legal and available in an attempt to have the decision upheld in the Colorado Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of the United States—if it is appealed.

"It is just the sort of case we have been watching for to show the beer law is unconstitutional," Wade declared.

District Judge Claude C. Coffin who gave the decision in Greeley reiterated his opinion that the eighteenth amendment was violated by congress and the state of Colorado in an attempt to legalize beer. Judge Coffin said it was clear that 3.2 beer is intoxicating. "Both federal and state laws regulating sale of such beer are clearly invalid," he ruled, "because they seek to thwart and evade the dry amendments in the United States and Colorado constitutions."

Sue Harvard To Present Program Of Fine Balance

Homecoming Concert Program For Thursday Night Has Been Arranged

One thing that always marks the programs of Sue Harvard, New Castle concert star who returns to her home town in concert Thursday night, May 18, is the balance of them. There is never too much of one type of song, and always she includes numbers that appeal to the musical literati and to those who like music because it sounds good.

Her program for Thursday night is no exception to the rule. Here are found the works of the masters, Mozart, Schumann and Schubert, but here also are found such light numbers as parodies in nursery rhymes, old English airs, and one number in the language of her forefathers, Welsh.

Many Requests

The program seen below is merely the formal program of the evening. Miss Harvard has already received a number of requests which she has indicated she will sing and if all the request numbers are sung, along with the formal program, the evening will be a long one and a pleasant one. She will be accompanied by Miss Emily Harford Avery, while Thomas H. Webber Jr. will augment the accompaniments of some of the numbers at the First Presbyterian organ. The concert is under the auspices of the Hershey Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church.

The program follows:

Sommi Die (from Radamisto).....Handel-Bibb
The Lass with the Delicate Air....(Old English).....Thos. Arne
Lullaby from the Pyrenees).....Traditional
I'd Be a Butterfly (Old English)....Thomas Bayly
Agnus Die (piano and organ accompaniment .....Geo. Bizet

II

Parodies on Nursery Rhymes:
Sing a Song of Sixpence: Goosey, Goosey Gander: Old Mother Hubbard: Hey, Diddle Didde.....Herbert Hughes

III

Arie (from Il Repastors.....Wolfgang Mozart

IV

Der Nussbaum.....Robt. Schumann
Der Jungling an Der Quelle.....Franz Schubert
Auf Dem Wasser Zu Singen....;..Franz Schubert
Der Musenhohn....Franz Schubert

V

School Orchestra Presents Program

Mother's Day Program Is Augmented By High School Orchestra Sunday Evening

Every available seat in the auditorium and Sunday school rooms of the Croton Methodist church was filled Sunday evening for the observance of Mother's Day.

Rev. Margaret Joshua gave a most inspiring sermon on the beautiful relationship of Ruth and Naomi, and at the conclusion of the sermon Earl Williams acted as chairman for the program presented by Joseph Replogle and an orchestra from the senior high school.

Special numbers included a trombone solo by Henry Wilkison; woodwind quartet, William Shira, Robert J. Brown, Merle Fisher and Alan Chamberlain; trumpet solo, Arthur Gorman; flute and horn, William Shira and George Kyle; violin, Salvatore Cresce; brass quintet, Edward Candioto, Alfred Sadler, Henry Welhausen, Henry Wilkison and James Kirkpatrick.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 9, 1933

A great thing has occurred amongst us. We have made a complete turn-around, and at last America's face is toward the future.

Three years---1929 to 1932---we Americans looked backward. All our old financial and political machinery was geared to pull us out of the depression by the same door through which we entered. We thought it simply a case of going back the way we came. It failed. We now realize that the way out is forward---through it.

Thanks for that belongs to President Roosevelt. Inauguration Day he turned the Ship of State around. Having observed the failure of sincere efforts to haul us back the way we came, he designed a new method---new political and financial machinery---to pull us out the way we are going---forward. He is clearing international obstacles out of the way; he does not stand in awe of tariffs. The people begin to feel that he does not take advice from the "interests"; that he has courage and loyalty to work for one supreme interest only---the welfare of the American people. That is a big achievement for two months in office.

And now we all look to what is coming; we grow less and less concerned with what is behind. We are looking for a hand-hold on the haul rope. Every man wants to do what he can, and all he can.

The best thing I can do for the Country is to create industry by building good motor cars. If I knew anything better to do, I would do it. Industry must be my contribution. Motor cars must face ahead to the future, like everything else. They are so much a part of the Nation's daily life that if they lag behind they hold the Country back.

Vets First To Hold Poppy Sale

McBride Post To Participate In Nationwide Sale Last Of Month

TO SELL EMBLEMS MADE BY DISABLED

First Among veteran organizations to conduct a nation-wide poppy sale and the first organization to adopt the policy of distributing poppies made exclusively by disabled ex-service men, the Harry L. McBride post will continue to observe the custom near Memorial Day, the annual poppy day sale having been planned for May 27.

Although poppies made a previous appearance in a few scattered communities, they were introduced on a nation-wide scale for the first time by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. in 1922.

In 1923, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in cooperation with the United States Veterans bureau, established the first "buddy poppy factory" manned completely by disabled ex-service men. This factory was located at Pittsburgh, Pa., and in the poppy sale of 1924 every poppy distributed by a V. F. W. post or auxiliary throughout the United States was made at Pittsburgh.

The slogan of the V. F. W. in its poppy sales has been "Honor the dead by helping the living." This is their purpose in their annual poppy sale. The money derived from the sale of poppies goes to the relief of disabled ex-service men.

Will Plant Shrubs At North Beaver

Grangers To Improve Conditions At Grange Property On May 19

Planting of shrubs and flowers and the general improvement of the grounds about he grange hall, will be the outstanding feature of the next regular meeting of North Beaver grange, which is to be held on Friday, May 19. The meeting will be in charge of the home economics committee, assisted by the lecturer. The early part of the evening will be spent in this feature of the evening's program.

At 7 o'clock a tureen dinner will be served for the members. A feature of the evening after the supper will be a program of unusual order. Some of the numbers to be given will include the following: "Is Home a Filling Station?", "What Do We Plant When We Plant a Tree?", "A Legend of the Easter Lily", "Vacation Time Travel", "The Mothers of Men", A Package of Seeds" by Flora, "Who Killed the Grange?" and "How the Grange Was Given Its Name". A business meeting will follow the supper and program.

The members have all been urged to be out early on Friday, May 19, to take part in the planting work to be done. Another meeting that will be of interest to all is to be held in the near future and will be in charge of Ceres, Pomona and Flora.

On Friday evening, May 5, the play "An Old Fashioned Mother" was presented at North Beaver grange by the young people of the Mt. Jackson U. P. church and was enjoyed by a large crowd.

A number of North Beaver grangers attended the final meeting of "The Traveling Gavel" at Big Beaver grange on May 2.

CLASS PARTY

Twenty-three were present when Bessie Hofmeister entertained the members of her Bible class, the Live Wire class of the Christian church, at her home on Friday evening. Jessie Morrow had charge of the devotionals. At the close of the devotionals a Bible drill was held, with George Nicholls winning high score. A social hour of games was enjoyed and later refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother and her aunts, Mrs. McGraw and Mrs. Morrow. The class also honored the birthday of Willis McBride, and as a token of esteem he was presented a small parasol which held a shower of handkerchiefs.

Pennsy Shows How Dollar Was Spent

Nearly 44 Cents Of Each 100 Helped Meet Wages; Division Explained

How the Pennsylvania railroad spent each dollar of its income in 1932 is indicated in figures which have just been compiled and made public today.

This statement shows that out of every dollar received by the Pennsylvania railroad last year, 43.94 cents were paid out in wages. Almost 15 cents—14.89 to be exact—went for fuel, material and supplies. Depreciation of equipment and other railroad property accounted for 6.15 cents, payments on account of accidents to persons and loss or damage to freight and other property, and other miscellaneous expenses amounted to 4.75 cents. Taxes required 8.49 cents, rents paid for hire or equipment and joint use of yards, tracks and terminals owned by other companies 3.78 cents, and fixed charges, embracing rentals paid for leased lines and interest on funded debt aggregated 13.52 cents. Of the 4.48 cents remaining, 3.36 cents were disbursed in dividends and 1.12 cents placed in surplus account.

College Seniors Will Be Guests

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 15.—Two events for the senior class at Westminster College are planned for this week. They are the formal senior reception in the Hillside on Thursday night and the informal class dance in the college gymnasium on Saturday night. President and Mrs. Galbreath will entertain at the formal reception Thursday and will be assisted by Gordon Nevin, class president.

Funny language. A patient is one who waits four hours to call a doctor and then raves if he doesn't arrive in 10 minutes.

A "moral awakening' means people are poor enough to get mad at a crook who is still prospering.

COOK COMPLAINS

Editor The News:

With your permission, I wish to make a few remarks concerning action taken by the Pennsylvania Legislature in a couple of measures, in which I and numerous others are interested.

The acts to which I refer were those affecting men over seventy years of age, in which class I am myself included, which would have permitted those, who have lived to be seventy or over to have a resident hunters license or a fishing license without cost. The first was beaten in the House Committee on Game and the latter in the Fish Committee of the senate.

Now it would not have hurt the commonwealth in any way to permit men of seventy or more, who were able, to enjoy these two sports without the cost of a license fee. In the first place, I am of the opinion that it is contrary to the United States Constitution to pass any act such as the license fee charge for hunting and fishing, as our forefathers intended that there should be no restrictions on Americans. And in the second place, it looks as if our lawmakers are more interested in looking after the interests of the more fortunate than the less fortunate.

It appears to me that it is about time that our legislators get busy and do something constructive and helpful, rather than spend their time finding ways and means of defeating measures, which might be helpful to a considerable group of their constituents.

Yours Respectfully,
J. DICK COOK.

EDUCATORS DISCUSS PROBLEMS AT WESTMINSTER

Delegates From Many Schools

Educational Methods And Results Are Considered During Conference

HIGH SCHOOLS ARE IMPORTANT THEME

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 15—Spirited enlightening discussions of many phases of high school and college teaching aims, curricla, and practices marked the educational conference held at Westminster College on Saturday.

One hundred and twenty delegates, representing 12 colleges and 27 schools and school districts attended the conference which had sessions both morning and afternoon in the college chapel.

Morning Session

Following greetings of welcome by President R. F. Galbreath, the morning session started with two addresses on "What is College Material?" Dr. J. A. Shott, head of the department of education at Westminster presided and introduced the two speakers: Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castle schools, and Dr. Gilbert H. Taylor, head of the ancient language department at Westminster.

Dr. Green, in commenting on the type of students in colleges today, said, "I do not mean to imply that real scholarship does not still emerge from our institutions of learning. I do mean to convey the thought that the college diploma too frequently bears little relationship to scholarship, and I think that is largely because of the faulty raw material which colleges receive."

Delclaring that all young people are not suited for college studies, Dr. Green said, "During the period since the World War we Americans have followed three vain hopes. First—that all citizens can be financially rich. Second—that all can be bachelors of arts. Third—that all can have 'white collar' jobs or live without any jobs at all. We are slowly but surely learning the folly of such hopes, and are beginning to realize that schooling and education are not synonymous terms."

Of the place of the high school in the educational scheme, Dr. Green said, "The cosmopolitan high school of today is not essentially a college preparatory institution."

Dr. Green stated that he is in favor of separate high schools, in large cities, to specialize in college preparation.

Dr. Taylor Speaks

The question of what constitutes college material cannot be answered by any formula, Dr. G. H. Taylor said by way of introduction. "We cannot draw any hard and fast line between good and bad colleges, but there are evidently from 100 to, say 200 really good schools in the country. There are 30 to 40 fine colleges and, say, 10 to 15 extraordinary institutions. There is everything from Packards to below Fords, and the quality of the student bodies varies in close relation to the severity and excellence of the colleges."

"High schools cannot make good college material because good college material is born and not made" Dr. Taylor continued. If the high schools are fortunate enough to have some good college material they can hand it on. If the parents do not supply the material, I suppose that is just too bad!"

H. E. Brumbaugh, superintendent of the Irwin schools and Roy Jackson, principal of the Beaver Falls high school, led the discussion on points raised by Dr. Green and Dr. Taylor. A general discussion, starting at 11:30, followed this and lasted until 12:30.

Dinner was served the guests in the Hillside dormitory shortly after 12:30.

Afternoon Sessions

Dr. J. Freeman Guy, associate superintendent of Pittsburgh schools presided at the afternoon sessions which started at 2 o'clock.

P. A. Jones, principal of the Sharon high school, and Anthony Marino, Youngstown East High school, spoke first on "Guidance in the High School for College Entrance."

Mr. Jones started by stating that the choice of the college is one of the major problems in guidance. "The problem in guidance at the present time" he said, "is very much more difficult than it was years ago because we have, instead of a classical angle toward education, many angles from which we view education.

"We have found all types and classes of people in high schools. We are not going to get anywhere in college admission discussions until we succeed in winning the point to select only the best type of individual. Emphasis should be on the individual and whether or not he is good material."

Professor Jones then pointed out that the duties of guidance specialists were so great that it is hard to find good counselors in this important branch of school work.

Marino's Talk

Professor Marino of Youngstown East high school pointed out that every teacher should be part of the guidance program. He also indicated some reasons why teachers are often not of value in guidance of high school students.

"Every teacher should receive instructions in the principals of salesmanship, for without such knowledge he cannot sell information, knowledge, or himself to the average high school student.

"Every teacher should be encouraged to become more versatile. Every student in college should have several major studies, thus enabling him, if need be, to give instruction in several subjects."

Discussion of points raised by Jones and Marino was led by Dean R. W. Ogan of Muskingum College, and by Frank Burton, principal of the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, New Castle.

Dr. Ogan stated that the colleges of the future will be less standardized. He also expressed the belief that colleges will soon stress personality, individual interests and aptitude in determining eligibility for college admission.

Professor Burton listed briefly ten things which he believes should be taught over a period of three years in high school and junior high school.

Dr. Gamble's Talk

Dr. W. D. Gamble, superintendent of Sharon schools, and J. C. Diehl, superintendent of Erie schools spoke next on "What I Expect of the College Graduate When I Employ Him as a Teacher."

Dr. Gamble pointed out that there are four phases of preparation for teaching: development of personality, knowledge of certain techniques of teaching, broad general education, and definite specific knowledge of the field in which one wishes to teach.

Dr. Gamble concluded by saying, "The debt of the high school to the college for providing well-trained teachers is great. The college has functioned well but the challenge of today is for even better equipped teachers."

Dr. Diehl started by saying that the old definition for education was preparation for life. "Education today," he said, "is life."

"Someone has said that the greatest discovery in the 20th century is that the whole child comes to school. In former years to much stress was placed upon the intellectual side."

Discussion of these two talks was led by Dr. C. R. Foster, Indiana State Teachers' College: F. H. Carson, Wilkinsburg high school and S. E. Irvine, principal of the Butler high school.

Fulkerson Writes Story Of Trip By Auto To Prescott

Traveled 2,250 Miles Driving Greater Part Of Way Through Storms

Howard Fulkerson, and son, Jack, of Pine street, who started on an auto trip to Prescott, Arizona about two weeks ago, reached their destination without accident, according to a letter received by a member of the News staff. The only unpleasant features of their trip were wet weather and some sections of bad roads.

In his letter, Mr. Fulkerson says: "We reached Prescott on the evening of May 6 after having covered 2,250 miles. We did not attempt any speed records as we wished to as much of interest as possible. Our average mileage was from 310 to 320 daily. We spent about eight hours daily driving.

With the exception of Sunday, May 6, we drove in rain and wind storms all week. We were forced to leave the road twice on account of heavy rains and wind, once at Troy, Ill., and again at Clinton, Okla.

At Troy it blew so strong that several large trucks were overturned. Folks residing there stated that the weather has been usual this spring.

As to our route we followed No. 17 from New Castle to Lodi, O. taking 42 at that point a little east of Springfield, O. where it joins 40, which we followed to the west end of the free bridge at St. Louis, Mo.

At this point you go on 66 which takes you through the southern part of the city by way of Manchester Ave. No trouble at all in going through. In fact easier than going through New Castle on Washington street at almost any time. We followed route 66 from St. Louis to Flagstaff or Ash Fork, Arizona. This route takes you through the Ozark mountains in Missouri by way of Joplin, and it is a beautiful drive the road being of cement and twenty feet wide.

This route also takes you through Tulsa and Oklahoma City, then through the northwestern part of Texas. There is nothing that we saw in Texas that appealed very much to me. Leaving Texas we passed through New Mexico by way of the Santa Fe trail. This route takes you through the city of Santa Fe and Albuquerque. The city of Santa Fe is the second oldest in the United States. This trail passes through the Indian reservation, and all you see for miles is Indians, dogs and goats. I think each Indian family has at least five dogs, judging by the number we saw.

From Gallup to Flagstaff you travel through sandy land on either side of the road, with hills in the distance. It seems strange to travel through sand and yet, looking up, you see snow on top of the mountain peaks.

At places there were scrubby growths of pine, and in others nothing but sand. Entering Arizona, the country becomes rougher, but there is pine timber on either side of the road for miles and miles. This is a government forest.

We left route 66 at Flagstaff, taking state route 79 to Prescott. This is no drive for a person with a weak heart. I cannot explain in words what you see. You cross over the mountain peaks between Flagstaff and Prescott. At points you travel ten or twelve miles, and yet in lineal feet you only travel half a mile, the road is so winding. We will leave here in a few days for Phoenix. I do not know yet how we will go home, probably by way of Salt Lake City and Denver."

Speedwell Group Wins At Meeting Of Liberty Grange

The Contest With The Mayflower Group Is Increasing Attendance

The contest being held by Liberty Grange to increase attendance and improve the standing of the grange continues to create great interest among the membership.

The Speedwell group, with Carl Johnson as captain, came out victorious at the last regular meeting. The combined program on "Mothers and Fathers Day" as presented by the combined groups was very interesting.

The next regular meeting will be held on May 23 instead of the 16th on account of commencement exercises in the Harlansburg high school. Memorial services in honor of the deceased members will be held on that night after which the Juvenile Grange will present a program.

Combined program of the Speedwell and Mayflower groups as presented at the last regular meeting was as follows: Song, The Grange; Reading, "Dad", Sara Shuler; Mixed Quintet, Speedwell Group; Discussion, "How Can The Department of Agriculture Best Serve Farm Women?" Mrs. J. L. O. Cameron; Group Song, Mayflower Group.

Sees Benefit In Economy Moves

Swick Says One Change Will Be Benefit To War Veterans

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 15—Representative J. Howard Swick sees benefits resulting to veterans in at least one phase of the government's economy program.

Mr. Swick blieves that the elimination of many regional offices and the establishment of regional offices only at hospitals will aid the veterans as well as save money. The Congressman entered debate in the House this week to express such opinion. He declared:

"Is it not a fact that it will be a very great saving to the government to have these regional bureaus right in the hospitals where the men are being treatd? To my mind, it seems as though it would save the government a great deal of money. Also it will be a very great advantage to the veteran to have the bureau right there at the hospital where the physicians are who treat him."

Foreclosures In State Increase

Ratio In Pennsylvania Greater Than In Nation As Whole

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15—Foreclosures on homes in Pennsylvania have increased to a greater degree than foreclosures in the United States as a whole, according to figures presented to the White House by Senators Copeland and Wagner of New York and a homeowners committee.

According to these data, foreclosures in the country as a whole in 1932 were not quite four times as numerous in 1926. Foreclosures in Pennsylvania, on the other hand, were more than six times as numerous in 1932 as in 1926.

Pennsylvania foreclosures in the first two months of the year were four times as numerous in 1932 as in 1926 and six times as numerous in 1933 as in 1926.

NEGRO SEVERELY CUT IN ARGUMENT WITH HIS WIFE

Called to 22 East Home street about three o'clock Sunday morning, police officers found that Marion Johnson, negro, had sustained a severe cut on the left side of the neck and jaw, during an argument with his wife. They removed him to the New Castle hospital, where his wound was dressed. The knife just barely missed the jugular vein.

Johnson claimed his wife had attacked and cut him with the knife. The police found that the knife, a penknife belonging to Johnson had been wielded first by Johnson and that in some manner he had been cut, while his wife was seeking to disarm him.

PLAYS AS DAD FACES LONG TERM

Happily unaware of the possible fate which awaits his father, Kenneth Buck, Jr., son of the man who confessed, according to police, to kidnaping 10-year-old Peggy McMath, at Harwichport, Mass., plays with a little chum at the Buck home in Harwichport. Buck, police declare, held Peggy captive for 49 hours in a shack just across the street from his home.

CHILDREN DRAMATIZE GEOGRAPHY LESSON IN PLAY OF "MELTING POT"

As an introduction to geography, the third-grade children of the Blenheim elementary school, Kansas City, Mo., studied child life in other lands. In order to summarize the whole study and relate it to their other studies, such as English and home making, the children dressed dolls in the various national costumes. The girls dressed the girl dolls and the boys the boy dolls. Their language exercise consisted of writing and talking of children in other lands. The children then decided to have a play in which they would represent the children of other lands and wear their costumes.

The play was called "The Melting Pot". First, from behind the melting pot came the American father, mother and children talking about children of foreign lands. Then came the foreign children representing Germany, Hungary, Norway, Sweden, Poland, Russia, Holland, England, Wales, Italy, Switzerland, Scotland, Spain, Japan, Africa, etc., and in the tableau, pictured below, they are grouped around the pot with the Goddess of Liberty, above, center. At top, center, are some of the children in the costumes of, left, Switzerland; center, Scotland; right, Spain.

Our Lady Envoy Sails for Post

Mrs. Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, is the first woman to represent this country as envoy to a foreign power. At left is Miss Mary N. Hopkins, "junior" secretary, and right is Miss Helen Lee Doherty, daughter of Henry L. Doherty, utilities magnate, who will serve on Minister Owen's staff.

Men—Train—Music—All Scotch

With picturesque highland pipers skirling a pæan of praise on their bagpipes providing a touch of color, the "Royal Scot," crack British passenger train, said to be the fastest in the world, is pictured as it was exhibited at Grand Central Station, New York. The famous flier is en route to Chicago, where it will be placed on view at the Century of Progress Exposition.

Nobel Possibility

Not only is Miss Wagstaff famous as a poet, but she was once hailed as "America's most beautiful woman" by no less an authority than Harrison Fisher, celebrated artist.

La Dietrich Takes a Bow

Beautiful Marlene Dietrich, celebrated German film star, is pictured with Leslie Howard, British movie actor, as they chatted at the dinner dance recently tendered to Miss Dietrich by studio associates in Los Angeles. The party was by way of a send-off to the German star, who is returning to her native land for a vacation. Note the exaggerated version of the masculine dress bow Miss Dietrich wears.

Sued by Maid

H. Leslie Buswell, millionaire hotel-owner and socialite of Miami, Fla., and Gloucester, Mass., who is defendant in a $50,000 suit, brought in Salem (Mass.) Superior Court by Tyyne Neime, a former maid in his home. The girl charges Buswell caused her to be confined in an insane asylum, forcibly and without reason.

Off on Ambassadorial Duty

Claude Bowers, newly-appointed United States Ambassador to Spain, and Mrs. Bowers, are pictured as they sailed from New York for Madrid, where the new Envoy will take up his official duties. Mr. Bowers sailed on the new U. S. liner Washington, which is making its maiden trip to Europe. A brilliant ceremony marked the start of the voyage.

Watching a Man Die

The final chapter in a tragedy was being enacted as this photograph was made at the Las Vegas, Nev., prison. The building is the lethal gas chamber, and in it Ray E. Miller was paying the penalty for the murder of his wife in Reno. Witnesses to the execution are shown peering through the double-plated windows of the airtight chamber.

Home for Rest

A vacation can ofttimes be far from restful as Ann Harding, shown above, on her return to Hollywood, discovered. The famous screen actress flew to Cuba and was nearly drowned when a sailboat capsized off Havana. She saw the boatman killed by sharks while swimming to shore for assistance.

Real Art at Sidewalk Prices

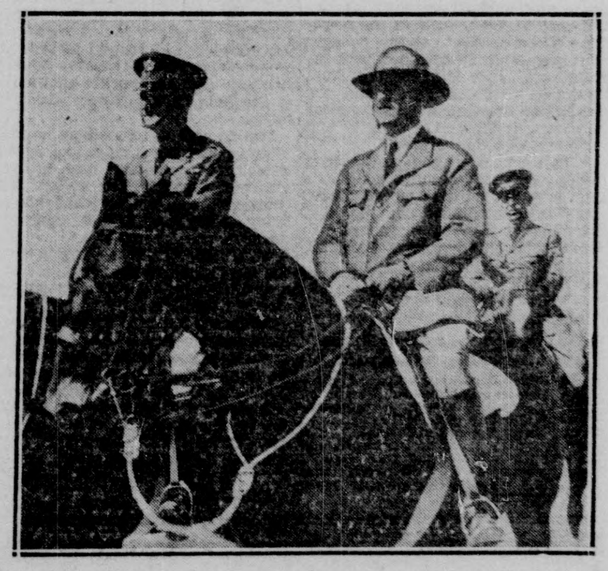

Even artists must eat and the embryo Rembrandts of New York's Greenwich Village are again holding an open-air art show. The vogue started because of the depression and promises to become an established event. Here is Miss Irene Malawicz sketching a little patron. As the sign states, sketches cost but fifty cents.

Collegian from India

Desirous of acquiring an American education, this charming daughter of Mother India, Miss S. Chakraverty, of Calcutta, is pictured as she arrived at Boston on the S. S. Laconia. She is wearing the picturesque attire of her native land. Miss Chakraverty plans to enter Simmons College.

Ex-Cabineteer in the Saddle

Wearing a scout sombrero and looking the ranger to the life, former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson (right) is pictured with Major General Frank McCoy, an old friend, during his recent visit to Fort Bliss, Texas. The ex-Cabinet member reviewed a parade of troops held in his honor, which, incidentally, was the first review held by General McCoy, who recently took over the Texas post.

Ocean of Hands in Salute to Hitler

This remarkable photo, made in Berlin during the recent May Day festivities, shows an immense gathering of 300,000 men and women admirers of Chancellor Adolf Hitler as they gave the Nazi salute to their hero. Inset shows Chancellor Hitler with President Paul von Hindenburg as they reviewed the gigantic demonstration. Later, Hitler addressed another gathering of 1,500,000 of his supporters.

Discussing That Long Count?

No longer possessing the ambition to commit mayhem on each other, Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, both former champions of the world and heroes of the famous "Battle of the Century" at Chicago, are pictured in intimate conversation at a New York radio broadcasting studio. The occasion was Tunney's radio broadcast, telling the inside story of their famous fight. Dempsey, an experienced broadcaster, seems to be giving his erstwhile foe a few pointers.

Bonuseers Settle Down in Camp Near Capital

Judging from this picture the 500 Bonus Army veterans at Fort Hunt, Va., will be well satisfied if Congressional action on their demands is long postponed. For the vets are living as guests of Uncle Sam, being housed in army tents, as shown, and with "chow" served regularly, just as in days of 1917-18.

ONE MAN KILLED; SECOND INJURED IN TRUCK CRASH

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—One man met instant death and another is in a critical condition in the Ellwood City Hospital as a result of an accident in which their truck collided with another one mile south of Zelienople on the Pittsburgh road about 8:30 Sunday morning.

The dead man is Oliver F. Negley, North Highland avenue, East Liberty, Pittsburgh and driver of the truck. His companion at the time of the accident was Edward J. Williams of 2805 Webster avenue, Pittsburgh, who is in the local hospital. The occupants of the other truck which figured in the accident, Jas. H. Trumon and twelve year old son, Richard, also of Pittsburgh escaped with minor injuries.

According to an investigation made by State Highway Patrolmen H. A. Stephens and H. J. Harper, stationed at Butler, Pa., Negley and Williams who are employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph were enroute to Pittsburgh after distributing their papers in this district including Ellwood City when the accident occurred, with Negley at the wheel. They were traveling on Route 19 one mile south of Zelienpole down a small grade at the bottom of which there was a little bridge and a slight curve after crossing. It was at this point that their truck collided with another driven by Trumon and owned by the Le France Company.

The newspaper truck was practically demolished in the collision. The other was also damaged to a great extent. Passing motorists went to the assistance of the victims of the accident and summoned a physician and ambulance. Negley was pronounced to have met instantaneous death. An examination at the local hospital revealed that Williams was in a critical condition with a slight fracture of the skull, broken left arm, two fractured ribs, and injuries to his chest. Trumon and his son after receiving first aid were able to go on to their home.

Butler county Coroner Dr. M. E. Headlang also investigated the accident.

Several Injured As Autos Crash

Collision Occurs At Intersection Of Second And Glenn On Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—Four children and three adults escaped with minor injuries when two cars collided at the intersection of Second street and Glenn avenue about 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Fisher and four children of First street, this city, were traveling west on Glenn avenue when a car driven by Fred Patton, also of this city, going south on Second street, collided with the Fisher car at the intersection, according to a report given Chief of Police W. C. Morrison, who was called to investigate the accident. The impact of the cars caused the Fisher car to be hurled into a telephone pole. This car was considerably damaged.

All concerned in the accident suffered minor injuries. Mr. Patton and a passing motorist took them to a nearby physician where their injuries were dressed. It was mostly cuts, bruises and lacerations caused by flying glass and the impact. Mr. Fisher suffered a painful injury to his leg and shoulder.

Poppy Day Success At Ellwood City

School Girls Sell Every Poppy Saturday In Order To Aid Veterans

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15—Poppy Day in Ellwood City last Saturday was a decided success considering the times according to a report issued by General Chairlady Mrs. David W. Stinson of the American Legion Auxiliary today.

Every red poppy obtained by the local auxiliary was sold by a bevy of school girls. The result of this yielded a sum of $114.59 which will go to aid disabled war veterans. The girls who made the most money in selling poppies were Miss Dorothy Stinson, Olive Louise Smith, Betsy Jane Conner and Miss Greta Lemery. There were 30 girls and their captains on the streets of the city early Saturday morning.

A fine lunch was served at noon and evening to the girls by a committee from the auxiliary composed of Mrs. Frank Lemery, chairlady, Mrs. Ray Wilson, Mrs. Charles Ross, Mrs. John Tyler, Mrs. Arthur Grandey and Mrs. Sidney Berstler.

The local auxiliary will hold its annual Mothers and Daughters banquet and program Tuesday evening. Mrs. Sally Homer of Greenville, director of the Western District and Mrs. William Loudon of Beaver, President of the Four County Council will be special guests as will the local Gold Star Mothers.

Ellwood Foremen Attend Conference

Over 100 Local Men Participate In Event; J. E. McDanel Elected Vice President

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—Ellwood City was very much on the map at the Regional Foreman's conference of the Western Reserve association at Youngstown, O., all day Saturday. It was represented by the largest visiting delegation of the day with over a 100 men present.

The conference was one of the most successful of its kind for the year. The speakers' program had some of the most prominent industrial men in this section of the country. Included in this was C. E. Sankey of Ellwood City who is the safety director of all National Tube companies with headquarters at Pittsburgh. Mr. Sankey's address was on his favorite subject of "Safety".

Other addresses were given by A. C. Horrocks, director Goodyear Industrial University, Akron, O., who spoke on "Will the New Deal Require a New Type of Foreman;" Prof. George Hantelman, Goodyear Industrial University, who spoke on "Happenings in Europe and Their Relation to the Foreman;" and George C. Brainard, president General Fireproofing company, Youngstown, O.

Two conferences were held during the day in which the local men participated. Also a conference of club officials was held at which time officers were elected for the Western Reserve Association of Foremen's clubs. J. W. Reinhardt of Youngstown was reelected president. J. E. McDanel who is president of the Ellwood City club was elected vice-president. Mr. McDanel was also chairman of the entertainment committee for the conference. Mr. Evans of Akron, O., is the secretary-treasurer.

A banquet with a fine entertainment featured the evening program. John C. Brunot and H. E. King were chairmen of the transportation and reservation committee respectively for the local club and were greatly responsible for such a fine turnout from here.

Police Recover Stolen Car Here

Samuel Logue Is Arrested For Theft Of Ohio Car Saturday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, May 15.—Samuel Logue of this city is lodged in the Lawrence county jail at New Castle on charges of stealing an Ohio car.

Logue was arrested Saturday night about 9 o'clock by Lieut. E. R. Hartman of the Ellwood City police who reports he apprehended him in the act of stripping the car along the Wampum road here. Upon Lieut. Hartman's arrival Logue had had the four tires off and the battery out, the officer says. He was immediately arrested when he failed to produce the title or owner's card to the car. When questioned by Lieut. Hartman where he had got the car Logue stated that his girl friend had given it to him. The license plates at the time of the arrest had been missing.

Later in the night Logue was turned over to the Highway Patrol at New Castle where the charges will be preferred.

New Compensation Rate Is Effective

City Relief Workers To Continue—New State Law In Effect

Council met Monday in the city building today and discussed the relief work compensation insurance here.

City Solicitor White told them that the governor had signed the emergency relief bill.

He added that it will cost the city 25 cents for each man sent on city relief jobs.

It was practically decided that when they are assigned to work they will be hired for the entire week.

They will be given forms which will be signed by Dr. G. S. Bennett, the foreman of the job, and the workers.

Under the law none of the workers will receive compensation for minor injuries until 26 weeks have passed.

In case of permanent injuries immediately.

Plan To Establish Branch Aid Quarters

A plan designed to relieve the over-crowded conditions that arise almost daily at County Welfare Officer M. B. Hogue's headquarters on Court street is now in the formation stage, Dr. G. S. Bennett, chairman of the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board, told the Rotary club today as he discussed the county's relief activities.

Under the new arrangement, Dr. Bennett said branch aid offices would be opened in different parts of New Castle with local unemployed men in charge. It would distribute the present crowd of applicants which now make regular calls at the central Court street office.

The relief board chairman explained that existing conditions warrant a change.

After his luncheon talk, Dr. Bennett answered questions which Rotarians asked.

Mrs. Marjorie McDermott, of Beckford street, who has been undergoing treatment in the Jameson Memorial hospital, has returned to her home.

Indians Thump Mackmen Twice As Yanks Split With St. Louis Browns

PITTSBURGH LOSES TO NEW YORK 5 TO 1

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 15.—The second intersectional phase of the major league season starts today with Cleveland invading Philadelphia for the American League's first east-west clash in the east this year and the Phillies heading the hegira of the National League's eastern teams into the lair of the Pirates.

The complexion of both pennant races changed yesterday as the first intersectional series ended. The Giants made it three straight over Pittsburgh and tied the Bucs for the National League lead, 2½ games in front of Cincinnati's amazing collection of rejuvenated cast-offs. Cleveland regained the American League lead by downing the Athletics twice while the Yankees were held to an even break by the St. Louis Browns.

Wilson Hits Homer

Hack Wilson, former home run king and now just an alternate outfielder trying to clinch a steady job with Brooklyn; and Ed Wells, aged cast-off, supplied the day's heavy drama. Wilson, nominated as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning with the bases full and the Dodgers trailing the Phillies by two runs, hit the first ball pitched for a home run. The wallop gave the Dodgers an 8 to 6 win and 12,000 delirious Brooklyn fans the thrill of their lives. It was the second pinch homer of the big league season and Wilson's first circuit clout of the year.

Wells, given the gate by the Yankees after he failed to start a single game for them last season, pitched the Browns to a 5 to 1 win over his former mates in the first game of a double bill. Van Atta and Brennan, New York's two star rookie pitchers, managed to get away with a 9 to 5 decision in the nightcap thanks to Tony Lazzeri's homer with the bases full. It was "Poosh 'Em Up" Tony's sixth homer.

Indians Win Two

With Hildebrand and Brown holding the A's to a total of ten hits, Cleveland two-timed the Mackmen 3 to 0 and 5 to 3. It was Hildebrand's fifth straight win without a defeat and his third shutout, and Brown's fourth victory.

Roy Parmelee turned in his third win in as many starts for the Giants by taking the Pirates 5 to 1. Waite Hoyt's good pitching kept Pittsburgh in the game until the eighth when an error by Fred Lindstrom, former Giant, staked New York to three runs.

Double Bills Split

Although the Reds made a total of only nine hits in a double bill with the Cubs, they qualified as hitless wonders by grabbing both ends of it, 5 to 3 and 1 to 0. Red Lucas tamed Chicago in the opener. The nightcap, in which Si Johnson and Lon Warneke each yielded only four hits, was broken up in the seventh innning when Hafey singled and Rookie Otto Blugee delivered his second hit of the season, a double.

After Tex Carleton of the Cardinals held Boston to four hits and chilked up his fifth straight victory, 4 to 0, the Braves knocked Dizzy Dean out of the box and took the second game, 8 to 4.

Fifty-one base hits rattled along the greensward as Washington and the White Sox divided two slugfests. The Sox took the opener 10 to 8 and the Senators the second, 11 to 9.

With Dusty Rhodes yielding only five hits, Boston scored five runs in the ninth to swamp Detroit, 6 to 1. But the Sox couldn't stand prosperity and committed six errors in the nightcap, losing 3 to 2.

Head Play To Race Saturday

Winner Of Preakness And Second In Derby Will Run At Jamaica Track

BROKER'S TIP BADLY BEATEN

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 15.—They're talking about the Wood Memorial at Jamaica next Saturday and the American Derby in Chicago next month as a test for Head Play, now that he has won the Preakness in a way that leaves as little doubt of his class, as it left much concerning the others in this race.

They've even started to talk up Ladysman as the winner at Jamaica but, if Head Play has no more to beat than he has met so far in the Derby and Preakness, there will be no test for him here or in Chicago or at any time this season. Of a rather indifferent lot in the three-year-old division, he's pounds and lengths the best.

Head Play Is Fast.

In fact, he's a good deal of horse, all told; no Gallant Fox or Twenty Grand, maybe. But enough of a horse to run the legs out from under the Ladysman, the Broker's Tip and the Pomponiuses, as he did so conclusively on Saturday with his four-length victory in 2:02 for the mile and three sixteenths.

Though Broker's Tip won it and probably deserved it, at that, many thought that Head Play was the best horse in the field after the Derby. Everybody knew he was after the Preakness. It was strictly that kind of a race; nobody threatening, nobody close after four furlongs.

Broker's Tip Hurt.

Broker's Tip never made his move and finished tenth in a field of ten. He wasn't without excuse, since he didn't favor the somewhat heavy track and a slight injury to his forefoot had almost pulled him out of the race the day before.

Nevertheless, if the Bradley colt was really a good horse, he shouldn't have been as bad as he was on Saturday. There were too many outstandingly bad horses in the race to justify the Bradley performance at Pimlico—never better than ninth and nearly always tenth. There is a rule of the turf which says that a good horse is always good, no matter what the going may be. However, it doesn't say anything about three legs and, while Broker's Tip wasn't an unsound horse on Saturday, he wasn't altogether right, either. The only point I'm making is that he shouldn't have been so wrong.

Ladysman Favored.

In view of that disputed finish in the Derby, he's the only one that matters. Ladysman doesn't. He had no out at Churchill Downs. He just didn't run. At Pimlico, he just couldn't. He was up there with the contention at a half mile and was badly outrun the rest of the way, more or less sustaining the idea that he can't go a distance. That's why some of them are trying to like him in the Wood Memorial. It's only a mile and seventy yards and he may get a dry track.

I still don't see what that has to do with Head Play. He breaks fast himself—and moreover, he had the early foot to run away from Ladysman and his like down the first straightaway on Saturday. Besides, he runs on anything, which ought to close the incident. Seemingly, it does not.

"What has he beaten?" the dubious want to know.

To which you reply: "Everything."

But that doesn't seem to have been enough.

Elect Guinagh Peerless Manager

Losing Streak Results In Change Of Baseball Team Managers

Arthur (Ducky) Guinagh has been elected manager of the Peerless club of the American loop, Lawrence County league. The veteran catcher was named at a special meeting Saturday. Peerless has lost four games in the league play and the change is expected to get Peerless out of the slump.

The first game in which Guinagh will handle the reins will be Tuesday when Castlewood plays Peerless on Lee avenue field. The game will start at 6:15 p. m., d. s. t. Maher, Davies, Hartman, Leonelle, Carey, Otto, McIntyre, Wheale, Gibson, Hilliards, Gormeal, Heidish, Walters, D. Campbell and Allison are to report.

LEGION OF HONOR TO PLAY TONIGHT

If the weather permits, the Legion of Honor golfers will resume hostilities at the Municipal golf course this evening.

Last Monday evening's play was washed out by the weatherman and the players are anxious to get going this evening so that their schedules may be played out.

Today when you say that a man's word is as good as his bond, it's rather a doubtful compliment.

Just a Star Shooting Couple

We hope Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jackson of New York will not resort to rifles in settling any bridge disputes, for both are crack shots. Here they are at Pinehurst, N. C., where Mr. Jackson won the North and South trap shooting title and Mrs. Jackson startled her feminine opponents by breaking twenty-five targets in as many shots.

POLICE HUNTING TRUCK DRIVER

Negro In Accident With Truck Has Not Been Located Since

Arthur Woods, aged 14, 2202 Berger street, while riding his bicycle south on Moravia street just south of the Levin store, 1330 Moravia street, Sunday night about 8:15 o'clock, was struck and seriously injured by a truck bearing Pennsylvania license R53-136 and driven by a negro, known as J. Van Rhodes, alias Cats Eyes, of rear 1017 Moravia street. Rhodes drove on leaving his victim in the street and is still at large, although the police are making every effort to apprehend him.

The injured boy was removed to the New Castle hospital, where it was found that he had a fracture of both bones of the left arm below the elbow, a compound fracture of the left leg in the thigh, both bones of the right leg broken below the knee, a cut on the chin, small cuts on the rght hand and general body bruises and cuts. His condition is considered very serious.

Police were first informed of the accident by Anthony Vance of 708 East Lutton street, who told the police he had been driving south on Moravia street near Levin's store, when a truck driven by a negro, had passed him to the left and struck a boy on a bicycle and kept on going. He had secured the license number.

The police immediately made every effort to apprehend the driver and the truck. It was found that Rhodes, who was employed as a car washer by the Travers Tire company of 32 South Jefferson street, had taken the company's truck without permission, from the parking lot in the rear of the company's store.

About nine o'clock, a member of the company, reported to the police that Rhodes had run through the store and reported that the truck was on South street with the front damaged. He was told to report to the police, and left. He has not been seen since.

Later the police apprehended Charles Hudson, negro, of 804 South Mercer street, who stated that Rhodes had come to his place shortly before the time of accident and asked him to go for a ride. They got in and started and the accident occurred a few minutes later.

Hudson stated to the police that he called Rhodes' attention to the boy, but he remarked he didn't care and kept on driving. Hudson jumped from the truck at Mahoning avenue and returned to the scene of the accident, but the boy had been removed. Rhodes kept on, he said. He also stated that Rhodes was under the influence of liquor.

Hudson was retained in the police station until this morning, when after repeating his story to Mayor Charles B. Mayne, he was released with instructions to hold himself in readiness to be a witness in the case. In the meantime, the police are continuing their search for Rhodes.

Plead Guilty To Larceny By Trick

Louis Pehllep and Clay A. Smith Assessed Fines And Costs, Or Jail

Louis Pehllep and Clay A. Smith, of Akron, O., charged with larceny by trick, in short changing several persons, entered pleas of guilty before Alderman L. C. Mantz this morning.

There were two informations against the defendants by Paul E. Engle, state policeman. In one he charged that J. E. Denny, service station proprietor at Frizzleburg, had been robbed of $5, and in the other that C. F. Gerould, near the Airport on the Youngstown road had lost a similar amount.

There was also an information by Constable Thomas F. O'Brien of Union township, charging that Elizabeth Kinder had been done out of $4 at the Jones service station.

Alderman Mantz sentenced Pehllep to pay $25 fines and costs, and restore the stolen property in each of the two first cases, and Smith to pay $25 and costs and return stolen property in the third case. In default of payment to undergo imprisonment for thirty days in each case.

The jail sentences are not to run concurrent and the fines would amount to $50 each on the two first cases and $25 additional for Smith in the third.

The men did not have the money and were committed to jail. Akron, O., friends, who were at the hearing, are going to try to raise the money to secure their release.

Sometimes vengeance strikes quickly; other times it delays for years.

ONCE IT WAS TORTURE TO SHAVE MY CHIN, BUT NOW—

"I've found a different kind of blade, specially made for a face like mine!"

"I'VE GOT some great news for men with tough beards!

"Once it was torture to shave my chin. The bristles are stiff and grow in swirls. Every morning I had to scrape and scrape. I couldn't get a decent shave.

"Worst of all—my neck was a patchwork of ingrown hairs. Some days I'd actually skip shaving to give my face a rest. I hated to look seedy when I went to work but I couldn't stand the discomfort.

"Then I learned about Probak—how it is especially made for tough and difficult beards. I decided to try a package. That was one of the smartest moves I ever made. Now I'm getting the best shaves ever—no more ingrown hairs or razor smart for me. I'll bet I've made a dozen of my friends switch to Probak."

Tens of thousands of men know that Probak is amazingly different. Its edges are especially tempered and honed to shave the toughest kind of beard without smart or irritation.

If your beard is stiff and dense—if your skin is sensitive—switch to Probak now! Give your face the benefit of this superior blade—and see the difference it makes in your shaving comfort.

Steel Common Is Supported By Expanding Operations Of Industry

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—The stock market suffered a fresh reaction today, losses running to nearly 2 points, as the critical foreign situation combind with weakness in commodities to bring further heavy profit-taking.

Cotton slumped $2 a bale before support appeared while wheat lost more than a cent a bushel. Other commodities were heavy. The dollar strengthened against foreign currencies while bonds were unsettled by a new break in German issues to new lows.

Strength individual issues developed as the main body of stocks sagged. Liquor stocks and the so-called "wet" group were strong with many going to new highs for the year. Low-priced farm implement issues advanced while the higher-priced group like Case Threshing and Sears Roebuck were lower.

Steel common was supported by the expanding operations in the industry while American Telephone continued to be aided by the hope of a regular dividend at Wednesday's directors' meeting.

Rails were heavy on Saturday's traffic decline. Boom leaders like Du Pont, American Can, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical and others were down a point and more each. General Motors was under pressure but showed support.

Asks For State Permission On Salary Changes

Dr. C. C. Green Takes Up Salary Matter With State Public Instruction Dept.

Acting under the authority of the Board of School Directors, Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools has written the State Department of Public Instruction asking for approval of the New Castle School district budget and the provisions of it. This includes a reduction of not less than ten per cent over and above the ten per cent permitted by law, in the matter of teachers salaries and the suspension of the added increment of $100 to those teachers due the increment.

The matter of teacher's contracts is entirely up to the Department of Public Instruction according to Dr. Green. If the department approves the budget of the local school district and the provisions under which the budget was made, then teachers contracts will be renewed. If the department refuses to approve the budget and its provisions the matter of teachers contract renewals will then be a matter for action by the board.

Fair Directors Plan Three Day Meeting This Fall

A meeting of the directors of the New Castle Agricultural Association was held Saturday evening in the office of A. C. Shoaff, the secretary in the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company Building. R. R. McGeorge, the president, presided.

The directors voted to hold a three day fair this fall during the week of September 18. Confidence was expressed that the fair would be a very successful affair this year.

Chicago Man Is Bullet Victim

President Of Power Petroleum Company Is Shot Down In Front Of His Home

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 15.—Machine-gun snipers today shot down A. J. Miller, president of the Power Petroleum Company, in front of his home here.

Witness told police four men in a big sedan, one armed with a machine gun, waylaid Miller as he departed from his home for his office.

At a hospital where it was found bullets had punctured his stomach, Miller averred he was a holdup victim.

Leave Today For Scout Convention

Mrs. Henry Rappold, Mrs. Albert Treser, Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, Mrs. John Higgins, Miss Rosena McGurk, and Mrs. W. H. Hanger, representing the Girl Scout council of New Castle, are enroute today to Uniontown, Pa., to attend the Girl Scout regional convention, which lasts over a period of three days, closing Wednesday at noon.

Six Girl Scout leaders of New Castle went to Uniontown last Friday for the week-end of training prior to the convention.

To Connect Paving At Moravia Street

Members of city council convened in the city building Monday and sent to committee an ordinance authorizing Stanley Treser, director of streets, to enter into a contract with the State Highway department for the paving of Moravia street to connect with the West Pittsburg road now being built by the state.

ANSWER ALARMS FOR SMALL FIRES

Two alarms were answered over the week-end by city firemen, little damage resulting in either case.

At 9:05 Saturday evening firemen from Central station were called to North Apple way, where a short circuit had started a blaze in a truck owned by the Freedom Oil Works. The blaze had been extinguished with a hand extinguisher before firemen arrived.

At 2:50 Sunday morning sixth ward firemen were called to the home of Mrs. E. Adams, 19 Magee street, where fire had started under the roof of a shed. The blaze was extinguished by use of the big chemical tank on No. 6 fire truck. The damage was small.

FILES BANKRUPTCY PETITION

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 15.—George Leo Smith, New Castle druggist, filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in federal district court here today. His drug store is located at 1216 S. Mill street, New Castle.

In his petition he listed liabilities of $5,551.48, and assets of $8,800. He asked personal exemption of $300. Of the assets, $8,000 is represented by stocks on his shelves, his petition asserted.

Wisconsin Milk Strike Resumed

Picketing Farmers Continue To Defy Deputies; 20,000 Pounds Of Milk Dumped

SEVERAL INJURED DURING FIGHTING

(International News Service)

EAST TROY, Wis., May 15.—Picketing farmers in Wisconsin's milk strike zone continued to defy authorities today as heavier forces of deputies patrolled the highways to prevent a recurrence of the violense in which 20,000 pounds of market-bound milk was dumped here yesterday.

Two hundred striking farmers seized a motor truck caravan at Simmons Corners and after overpowering 18 farmer members of the convoy and two deputy sheriffs, the mob emptied the milk from five motor trucks, spilling the fluid along the highway in Walworth county.

Tear gas hurled by 35 deputies who were waiting 150 yards away at the Waukesha county line had little effect as the picketing farmers engaged in hand-to-hand combat with members of the milk convoy. The wind brought the tear gas fumes back upon the deputy sheriffs.

Deputies Reinforced

As a result of the violence the deputy sheriffs received reinforcements in Waukesha, Walworth and Racine counties. Seven hundred additional deputies were called out to patrol the roads in Walworth county after the melee.

Several participants in the disorder were cut and bruised. Otto Marquette, president of the East milk pool, was knocked unconscious for 20 minutes.

Millionaire And Police Combine To Trick Extortion Seekers With Marked Bills

(International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, May 15—Oscar Mueller, 27, today faced arraignment as the extortionist partner of Frank H. Jess, who was shot and killed by police as he was escaping with $25,000 demanded under threat of death from Lloyd R. Smith millionaire manufacture.

Authorities said Mueller admitted taking part in the extortion scheme with Jess, his partner in a garage venture in suburban Wauwatosa. They were heavily in debt, he said, and devised the plot to get out from under." Mueller will be arraigned in municipal court.

Fatally Wounded

As Jess was fleeing with $25,000 in marked bills left in a can at a designated spot policemen who had surrounded the area ordered him to halt. They fired and Jess fell fatally wounded when he failed to stop.

Smith received five threatening letters, each one week a part. Not until the fifth one was received last Friday did the writers designate where the money was to be cached. The letters threatened the millionaire with death or kidnaping unless the orders were obeyed.

Dressed in Smith's clothes, Detective John Riley drove to the appointed spot and placed the money in a tin can under a signpost. Jess had attached a wire 75 feet long to the can and drew the money into an adjoining field where he was concealed.

Almira Home Has Mother's Program

The women at the Almira Home were entertained with a Mother's Day program Sunday afternoon when the members of the Mizpah society and McKinney Bible class of the First Presbyterian church went to the home, according to their annual custom.

The men's class conducted the group singing and Mrs. Howard Magill gave a splendid talk on "Contentment".

At the close of the program each resident of the home was presented with a bouquet of flowers and refreshments were served.

The Fireside string ensemble played selections appropriate to the day.

New York Jews Boycott Germany

Economic Boycott Is Launched By Jewish People In New England

SEEK TO SPREAD BOYCOTT EFFORT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 15.—An economic boycott of Germany by the 2,000,000 Jews of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut went into effect today.

It was proclaimed at a conference of the representative of the Jewish organizations in the metropolitan area held at the Hotel Astor yesterday under the auspices of the American League for the Defense of Jewish Rights. The boycott, it was declared, will "continue until all the anti-Jewish laws, edicts and policies" of the German government dominated by Adolf Hitler "have been wholly repealed and renounced."

Nearly 600 delegates, representing 288 organizations in the three states, gave unanimous approval of the boycott resolution. A standing vote was taken. An attempt will be made to extend the boycott to nation-wide scope, not only by the 4,000,000 Jews in the United States, but by all Americans sympathizing with the movement.

Hopes also were expressed to give the movement international scope by winning the cooperation of the committee of Jews in England headed by Lord Melchett, which was first to use the boycott weapon against the Hitler regime, and with Jewish organizations in France, Poland and other countries.

Among the speakers urging the boycott were Samuel Untermeyer, James W. Gerard, former American Representative F. H. LaGuardia, Henry T. Hunt, former mayor of Cincinnati; Col. Morris Mendelsohn, commander-in-chief of the Jewish War Veterans.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

For a spring tonic on mornings like this, may we recommend a trip out through the country about the time the sun is just piling out of the hay, and the mists of the morning have not yet lifted above the tops of the pole lines? When the dew still lies like a silver sauce on the grasses and weeds and the air seems like some rare vintage.

This morning was just that sort of a morning. The Slippery Rock at Rose Point was veiled in a smoky covering that reached down almost to the water level, the bridge had one end hidden in the fog, and here and there the sun stabbed through the fleecy covering like an expert fencer.

* * *

Some time ago somebody wanted to know why they had burlap bags placed over the radiators of new cars that were being towed through. The matter was turned over to the Secret Service Department and Operative McClumpha (you don't know Willie) has the matter all straightened out.

* * *

It seems that the car pulling the new job, tosses out a flock of small pebbles that shoot straight for the radiator of the new car. The pebbles do no radiator much good, and oftentimes do a lot of harm. For a couple of cents a burlap can be purchased and bought and the pebbles bounce off harmlessly. Class dismissed.

* * *

Flowers to the lady on the North Hill yesterday who stopped along the street to pick up an injured grey squirrel and take it home with her for treatment. An odd thing altogether. Just where the grey squirrel came from is a mystery, but apparently after getting out on Highland avenue it tangled with an automobile.

* * *

The car must have hurled it to the curb and there it was when the lady came along in a plushed line car that spelled money in the bank. Her clothes looked like prosperity. She had the driver stop the car and getting out, gathered up the wounded animal and took it along with her.

* * *

We'll probably never know who the lady was for the incident came in from one of the departmental spies. But whoever she was, she has a heart and this colyum votes her a big bouquet of daphne, which is the sweetest smelling flower in the garden just now.

* * *

Sometimes we wonder just how much good these Japanese beetle quarantine lads get done out on the highway. An example of their work occurred yesterday. Some people were going into Mercer County and took a few plants from their garden to add to the Mercer County folks garden.

* * *

The quarantine lads stopped the car and demanded that the dirt be removed in toto from the roots of the plants and being short on time they had to leave the specimen there. At six o'clock the quarantine boys go off duty and the road is free.

* * *

The boys are all set for the reunion of the 28th Division. The red keystone is going to make whoopee and customers that outfit always could make it. They made a lot of it up at Fisme and Fismette, at Mont Blainville, in the Argonne Forest and a few other places along the front line.

* * *

They made whoopee in Paris and Southampton and Nice and Monte Carlo. Any place the red keystone showed there was something moving, and while it has been 15 years since they made much whoopee, they still have the recipe. From Broad Street, Augusta, Georgia to the Champs Elysees the red keystone stood for pep and punch and high speed action. And they'll be here this week.

* * *

There's a trick rock garden up on Delaware Avenue above Sumner. A splendid old tree was partly on the sidewalk line when the walks were laid, but they didn't have the heart to move such a specimen and the walk curves here just a little. Around the roots of the tree, from the sidewalk up there is a rock garden that adds a heap to the appearance of the street and gives the tree some decoration which helps it too.
